THE BECKER CASE CLOSED ABRUPTLY

"Jack Sullivan," Defense's Star Witness, Unlocks Tongue for State.

BOTH SIDES SUM UP TODAY

Justice Goff Will Charge Jury Tomorrow—11th Hour Change of Mind on Part of McIntyre Keeps Becker From Stand.

New York, Oct. 22.—The case of the State against Police Lieut. Charles Becker closed abruptly and dramatically this afternoon with the district attorney, at the court's command, reading into the record a flood of testimony from Becker's star witness, "Jack Sullivan," for whose admission Becker's lawyers had fought long and hard, when Sullivan testified before.

Amid the vigorous protests of Becker's counsel, who had objected as vigorously when Sullivan's testimony was barred several days ago, "the King of the Newsboys" unloosed his tongue. He told his story belligerently and excitedly, in his own way, just as he had asked permission to tell it when he was on the stand before. His testimony was in direct support of the contention of the defense that Rose, Webber, Vallon and Schepps, informers and State witnesses, had conspired in jail to send Becker to the electric chair, by their own perjury.

John F. McIntyre, Becker's chief of counsel, had declared his case rested when Sullivan was re-called. He said frankly that he did not want Sullivan's testimony. The court ordered the case re-opened and instructed an attendant to call Sullivan to the witness stand.

Mr. McIntyre refused to question him and Justice Goff, leaning over the bench, instructed the attorney to ask the witness, "as a part of the case of the defense," certain questions, which the court had excluded during Sullivan's previous testimony.

These questions had to do with conversations Sullivan said he had in the West 53rd street jail with Rose and Webber.

"Rose told me that he and Webber and Vallon and Schepps were going to frame up Becker," Sullivan declared. "He asked me to corroborate this testimony. They all asked me, kept at me day and night. When one left off the other began. Rose got a letter from the district attorney one day and after he had read it, he came to me and said, 'Jack, the district attorney writes me that he wants to know if you are going to corroborate us. He says if you do, it will be all right; if you don't you'll be indicted'.

"Webber said to me, 'The only way you can get out is for you to do as Mr. Whitman says and swear that you saw Becker with Rose and me a few hours after the murder. If you do that, you'll get out like we will, after the trial. If you don't you'll be indicted and spend six months in jail.' Once Webber said to me, 'Jack, for God's sake say you saw Becker, as we will testify. If you want money, I'll give you $1,000 now and when you get out we'll go into the hotel business. I'll put in $25,000 and we will divide the profits. All you have to do is to lie for us. If you lie, it's all right, if you don't, you'll go to jail'."

To all these importunities, Sullivan said he replied that he would spend six years in jail if necessary rather than swear a man's life away.

Louis Plitt, brother of Becker's so-called press agent, was another witness for the defense who was forced on the stand by Justice Goff after Mr. McIntyre had declared his case closed. Mr. McIntyre refused to examine Plitt and again the district attorney read into the record evidence against the State's case—"Jack Rose told me," Plitt testified, "that Becker did not have anything to do with the murder. He said: 'I swear to you on my mother's grave that Becker did not have anything to do with this. He is as innocent as he can be, but I've been talking too much and I've got to testify against him'."

There was but one witness called in rebuttal and none in sur-rebuttal. The case was closed for both sides at 3 o'clock and adjournment taken soon thereafter. Tomorrow will be devoted to summing up. Justice Goff will charge the jury Thursday morning.

William Shapiro, driver and part owner of the gray murder car, which carried the gunmen to the Metropole and in which they made their escape after shooting Rosenthal, was the witness in rebuttal. He added nothing to published versions of his story, except his statement that 30 or 35 seconds elapsed after the shooting before he was able to start his car with the gunmen inside in flight.

What is said to have been an 11th hour change of mind on the part of Mr. McIntyre kept Becker from the witness stand.

"I didn't put Becker on the stand," said Mr. McIntyre, "simply because I did not care to dignify the opinion that the charge of murder had been corroborated by credible witnesses. The law is that there can be no conviction on the testimony of accomplices, without corroboration. To have put Becker on the stand would have appeared to be an acknowledgement that the testimony of Hallon and Laben amounted to credible testimony, whereas, it appeared before the jury that Hallen had served 12 years in State's prison, and Luban was brought in shackles from the New Jersey State prison into the court room."

Becker said: "I wanted to go on the stand, but my counsel advised against it. I don't believe any jury would convict me on the testimony offered in this case."

Federal Jury Begins Investigation of Jack Johnson-Lucile Cameron Affair—Girl Said to Have Renounced Pugilist.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—The Federal grand jury today began its investigation into the Jack Johnson-Lucile Cameron affairs, aiming to learn whether the negro pugilist has violated the Mann Act by causing the Cameron girl and other young women to be brought to Chicago for illegal purposes.

The first witness to be questioned was Mrs. Cameron-Falconnet, of Minneapolis, the girl's mother, who has been fighting to induce her daughter to quit Johnson.

Lucile Cameron, who has been held in the Rockford, Ill., jail in default of $25,000 bonds, and her mother appeared early at the Federal building and again the mother pleaded with the girl to give up the negro pugilist and also to tell the jurors all she could about her relations with him.

At the close of the hearing before the grand jury, the Cameron girl became hysterical and had to be removed to the office of the United States deputy marshal. She will appear before the body again tomorrow.

Later it was said that the girl had finally yielded to the pleadings of her mother, Mrs. Cameron-Falconnet, of Minneapolis, and consented to return to her home, renouncing the pugilist.

In connection with the Johnson-Cameron case, the Federal authorities are investigating a report of the existence of a clearing house in Chicago for the procuring of white girls for well-to-do negroes. It has been said that the organization conducted by a white woman has its headquarters in a Michigan avenue "club".

The girls, it is said, are brought from smaller towns in the surrounding States.

TEACHERS' ASSEMBLY

Programme for Greensboro Meeting Is Announced—The Speakers

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 22.—The programme for the annual sessions of the North Carolina Teachers' Assembly is just completed, the meeting this year to be in Greensboro on November 27th to 30th. The opening address will be by Hon. E. T. Fairchild, State superintendent of public instruction of Kansas, and president of the National Educational Association. The closing address will be by Dr. George D. Strayer, of Teacher's College, Columbia University, one of the best known educators of the country. Miss Annie E. George, of New York, will lecture before the Kindergarten Association. Dr. Naomi Norsworthy, of Teacher's College, Columbia University, will lecture before the primary Teachers' Association, and Mr. Ralph L. Baldwin, superintendent of music in the Hartford, Conn., schools, will be one of the lecturers from a distance. Also there will be the long list of North Carolina educational workers whose names are so familiar. Prof. E. C. Brooks is president of the Assembly and Mr. D. W. Connor, secretary.

STEAMER MAY BE ABANDONED

Berkshire Rests on Bottom of Lookout Cove, Greatly Damaged—Passengers Off for Home—Life-Savers' Heroism.

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 22.—Praising the heroism and self-sacrificing nature of the life-savers who braved death to reach the burning vessel Sunday morning, the 21 passengers taken from the steamer Berkshire, of the Merchants and Miners' Transportation Company, at Lookout Cove yesterday, left today for their homes.

The Berkshire, almost filled with water, is practically resting on the bottom of Lookout Cove. The fire in her hold has been extinguished, it is claimed, but the ship is believed to be damaged to such an extent that she may be abandoned. If she is floated, she will have to be almost entirely rebuilt.

Underwriters reached Cape Lookout today and are making an examination of the vessel, to ascertain the extent of the damage by fire.

The revenue cutter Seminole, which has been standing by the ship since Sunday night, is still there, and according to last reports was steadily pouring tons of water into the Berkshire.

The steamer Frederick F., of the Merchants and Miners' Transportation Company, reached Cape Lookout today and is said to have taken on board some of the passengers who were landed last night by the Seminole.

Several women passengers are reported to have refused to go to sea again, and took advantage of the offer the company made to send them to their homes by rail.

The passengers spent last night in the life-saving station at Cape Lookout, occupying the quarters of the men who went to the assistance of the burning ship Sunday morning and remained on board fighting the flames until yesterday afternoon, when they were taken off by the crew of the revenue cutter Seminole.

Th life-savers, despite the fact that they were thoroughly exhausted, are reported to have gladly given up their quarters to the weary passengers.

According to a report received in this city tonight, the Frederick F. will proceed to Philadelphia with the shipwrecked pasengers.

Officials of the Merchants and Miners' Company here say they do not know what disposition will be made of the Berksh.re.

DEATH AT SANFORD.

Mr. Edgar E. Ellington Passes Away After Short Illness.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Sanford, N. C., Oct. 22.—Edgar E. Ellington died at his home on Charlotte avenue this morning after a short illness. Mr. Ellington moved here from Raleigh in the early Spring and was connected with the Broadway Planing Mills. He was about 40 years of age and leaves a wife and several children. The remains were taken to Raleigh on the afternoon train for interment. During his short residence here he has made many friends and the sympathy of the town is extended the bereaved family.

COLONEL IS BACK AT SAGAMORE HILL

Roosevelt Resumes Quiet Routine, and is Unattended by Physicians.

STILL NEEDS COMPLETE REST

Physicians Say Patient is Not Yet Out of Danger—The Colonel Hopes to Get Back in the Campaign Again Soon.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Oct. 22.—The quiet routine of life at Sagamore Hill was picked up again by Col. Roosevelt and his family today as though it had not been interrupted by the firing of a shot meant to kill the master of the house. For the first time since he was wounded in Milwaukee eight days ago, Col. Roosevelt was unattended tonight by a physician. There was no one in the house except members of the family and servants and the colonel spoke hopefully of being able, after one day more of rest, gradually to resume his work.

Four physicians were with the colonel on his arrival at Oyster Bay from Chicago this morning and after they had dressed his wound they told him that the one essential was complete rest. If their decisions are obeyed, it is believed the ex-President's recovery is probable, although it cannot yet be said that he is entirely out of danger. Dr. Alexander Lambert and Dr. Scurry Terrell, who accompanied Colonel Roosevelt from Chicago, were joined in New York by Dr. Joseph A. Blake and Dr. George E. Brewer. After examining the patient they said the wound was still wide open, spoke of the possibility of infection and added they were unable to say whether it would be possible for him to take up the work of the campaign again.

Col. Roosevelt said when his wound had been dressed that there was no longer the need of constant supervision of physicians because he was "all right." The physicians were doubtful at first whether he should be left alone and it was suggested that one of their number remain at Sagamore Hill. But the colonel insisted that it was unnecessary and the doctors concluded it would be wisest to accede to his wishes. They all went to New York this evening and said they would not return until tomorrow afternoon. Their action was regarded by Roosevelt's friends as an indication of his improved condition.

James Ames, or "Jim" as Col. Roosevelt calls his negro butler, is acting as nurse under the direction of Mrs. Roosevelt.

The parting injunction of the physicians was that Col. Roosevelt must have absolute rest and must see no one today or tomorrow. Mrs. Roosevelt agreed with them and took hold of the situation as she did in Chicago. Her first move was to place men at the gate with strict orders that no one, whoever he might be, was to be admitted.

Then she saw to it that perfect quiet was maintained in the house. Friends, political workers, newspaper reporters and photographers flocked to the foot of Sagamore Hill during the day, but did not succeed in passing the guards.

OUTLINES

Great pressure is being brought to bear on Gov. Wilson in an effort to get him to make some speeches.

Federals and rebels are ready to engage in battle at Vera Cruz and the beginning of the engagement is expected hourly.

The Bulgarian forces yesterday took some important positions near Adrianople and the Turks were driven back toward the city.

The Clapp committee investigating campaign contributions will adjourn today after looking into Senator Beveridge's campaign in Indiana in 1904.

Several construction foremen testified at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial yesterday in regard to numerous explosions, and the umbrella used by E. C. Clark on one "job" was exhibited by the government.

The State closed its case against Police Lieut. Becker yesterday and the defense likewise closed without putting Becker on the stand. Today will be devoted to summing up and tomorrow Justice Goff will charge the jury.

The Federal grand jury at Chicago yesterday began an investigation of Jack Johnson's alleged violation of the white slave act. It was stated Lucile Cameron, who has been infatuated with Johnson, has decided to repudiate the negro.

Col. Roosevelt returned to Oyster Bay yesterday and resumed the quiet routine of life at Sagamore Hill. His physicians left him last night and he was unattended by them for the first time since he was shot. The colonel hopes to gradually get back in harness and take charge of the campaign.

BULGARIANS TAKE IMPORTANT POSTS

Turks Reported to be Retreating From Their Forts Near Adrianople.

THE GREEKS OCCUPY KASTRO

Turkish Squadron Cruises Off Cape Kaliakara, In Black Sea, and Fires Few Shells Without Damage—Decisive Battle

Sofia, Oct. 22.—The newspapers report that the Bulgarians have captured several important positions around Adrianople and Djumbalo after severe fighting, but official confirmation is lacking. The accounts represent that the Turks are retreating from their forts adjacent to Adrianople.

A Bulgarian force attacked the Turks retreating from Djumbalo, which is due south of Sofia on the Struma river. Many Turks were killed, hundreds were taken prisoners and three Gatling guns were captured. The Turks were caught between the Bulgarian troops and a band of Bulgarian irregulars and were unable to escape, owing to the irregulars dynamiting a bridge over the Struma between Djumbalo and Novrokop.

The Council of Ministers has directed the Agricultural Bank to take needful measures to prevent an increase in the price of bread by purchasing wheat and selling it to the bakers at cost price. Throughout the day a Turkish squadron has been cruising off Cape Kaliakara, in the Black Sea, to the north of Varna. The ships fired a few shells which did no damage.

Greeks Occupy Kastro

Athens, Oct. 22.—After a short engagement with the Turkish garrison, a landing party of five hundred Greeks today occupied Kastro, capital of the Island of Lemnos, and hoisted the Greek flag. Three Turkish officers and 52 soldiers were made prisoners.

Admiral Count Ouriolis issued proclamation to the inhabitants announcing the occupation of the island by Greece.

Serious Fighting Continues.

London, Oct. 22.—No official report of the Adrianople engagement has yet been issued here. The Sofia newspapers report heavy fighting around Adrianople and Kirk Kiliszh to the east and three forts in the vicinity of Adrianople captured. According to one rumor, 2,000 Bulgarians were killed and 4,000 wounded in a desperate engagement outside Kirk-Wilszh.

It is quite clear, however, that all reports of the fall of Kirk-Kiliszh, cutting off communication with Constantinople, are quite unfounded.

Fighting of a most serious character continues at all points along the extensive frontiers and an important battle is impending in the Kumanova district between the Servians and Zekki Pasha, who according to a Constantinople dispatch, which is exaggerated, has 10,000 men and strong artillery.

A Constantinople dispatch sent about midnight gives a report that a battle has begun practically all along the line from Adrianople to Kirk-Kiliszh, the Turkish troops advancing and the Bulgarians falling back with heavy losses.

The Montenegrins apparently are making slow progress in the direction of Scutari.

Pedrogritza dispatches say the bombardment of Tabosch continues, but although the fort has been greatly damaged, there is no sign of yielding.

In naval matters the honors so far are with the Greeks, who have captured Lemnos, thus obtaining a base from which they can attack the Turkish squadron should it emerge from the Dardanelles. Seemingly, however, the Turks are not disposed to leave the Black sea and risk an encounter with the Greek fleet.

Turkish Army Flees in Panic.

Athens, Greece, Oct. 22.—The Turkish army is fleeing in a panic from Dhisikata, on the way to the Turkish town of Servia in the north, according to a semi-official statement issued here today. The Greek troops are said to be pursuing them vigorously.

When the Turks precipitately abandoned the town of Elassona, it is said they left behind them their staff maps and 1,000,000 cartridges. They also dropped during their retreat much of their clothing and most of their engineering implements.

The total losses to the Greeks dur-

Hearing "Dynamite" Case

CLARK'S UMBRELLA PRODUCED

Exhibited by Government at "Dynamite Conspiracy" Trial—Construction Foremen Tell of Numerous Explosions

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 22.—A battered, ivory-handled umbrella that had survived an explosion, was produced as a government exhibit at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial today. Thomas Berger, of Pittsburg, Pa., foreman of a bridge construction company, identified it as having been found after an explosion on a railroad bridge at Dayton, Ohio, May 3rd, 1908.

"I notice you are examining the handle. What attracts your attention to it?" asked United States District Attorney Charles W. Miller.

"I see on the handle engraved the initials 'E. C.,'" replied the witness.

It was the umbrella which the government charges Edward Clark, of Cincinnati, carried when he attempted to blow up the bridge and which he held over the dynamite to protect it from a heavy rain. The government asserts Clark, after lighting the fuse, forgot the umbrella. Clark at the opening of the present trial, pleaded guilty. The indictment alleged that Herbert S. Hockin, acting secretary of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, assisted Clark in preparing for the Dayton explosion.

A dozen foremen of construction firms testified about explosions. H. G. Reynolds, Richmond, Va., told of an attempt to blow up a bridge across the Susquehannah river near Perryville, Md., on June 1st, 1908, when four men ran away leaving dynamite behind.

E. J. McGiven, Chicago, described the blowing up of a construction car on an elevated road extension at Buena Park, Chicago, in March, 1908, and the dynamiting of a car of steel at Indian Harbor, Ind., a year later.

H. W. Ashley, of Pittsburg, told of the dynamiting of a viaduct near Clayton, Pa., October 12th, 1906, after which pieces of a suit case in which the bomb had been enclosed were found scattered over the country.

Judge Albert B. Anderson, before whom the 45 men charged with illegal transportation of explosives are being tried, rendered several rulings in answer to objections raised by the defense. He ruled that evidence concerning all the one hundred explosions referred to by the government, including the Los Angeles Times disaster, might be introduced as showing a motive. He said a conspiracy already had been proven by the pleas of guilty on the part of Clark and Ortie E. McManigal, but the jury was to determine whether the remaining defendants were implicated.

The court stated further that the Government had undertaken to show that the object of the conspiracy was much broader than the mere illegal transportation of dynamite and nitroglycerine, that the explosives were being transported to destroy property and to enforce a "reign of terror" against constructors who maintained the "open shop." As showing the scope of what evidence might be offered the court cited decisions which grew out of a railroad employes' dispute. The original purpose of the employes, the court said, was not to obstruct the United States mails but as an incident of the execution of the conspiracy to tie up other trains the mail trains were obstructed and the United States Supreme Court held that all the acts constituted a conspiracy to obstruct the mails.

TRUE BILL AGAINST CARR

Grand Jury Indicts Express Messenger On Embezzlement Charge

Asheville, N. C., Oct. 22.—The grand jury today returned a true bill charging embezzlement against E. F. Carr, the express messenger, who was found locked in a chest in his car when it arrived in Asheville, one night last August. Carr claimed that a masked bandit boarded his car, and at the point of a pistol forced him to hand over a package of money he was carrying and get into the chest. Under alleged third degree treatment, Carr is said to have told conflicting stories.

FORGING SLOWLY TO COVETED GOAL

Six Thousand Dollars With Many Conditional Subscriptions Now Certain.

CONTRIBUTION FROM POINTS

Pender Comes to Rescue of Maternal County and Will Help Wilson Win—Teams That Reported Last Night

What would the average public-spirited citizen give before he would see Wilmington fall down on the proposition to give $10,000 to the Woodrow Wilson campaign fund?

That is the question which should concern everyone just now. The men behind the movement are determined that the effort shall not fail and if they are giving their time and talents to raising the fund, won't the average citizen do his part by contributing?

The $10,000 is already in sight with the realization of a number of conditional subscriptions of comparatively large amounts that will be realized upon just a little later and the team workers are now striving with all their might to meet these conditions. Won't you help? The matter should have been closed up long ago.

Yesterday the teams did good work but last night not half of them had reported, therefore, the exact amount now in hand, is not definitely known. However, according to the subjoined report more than $120 was secured during the day and the fund goes along well toward the $6,000 mark. Mr. C. E. Taylor, Jr., cashier of the Wilmington Savings & Trust Co., was the largest contributor yesterday. He gave $50; Hon. John D. Bellamy was the next highest with $25 and Gen. James I. Metts was third with a contribution of $10. The team of Mr. D. H. Howes has done exceedingly well during the past week. Contributions through this team have necessarily been of the $1 order, but there have been many of them and these represent an amount of work that is almost inconceivable.

The good old county of Pender yesterday did the handsome thing for the mother county in a contribution of $5 from Rocky Point, N. C. This was remitted to Chairman W. A. McGirt by Mr. W. W. Pearsall and is acknowledged under Mr. L. D. Latta's committee below. This contribution is especially encouraging to the team workers in Wilmington.

The reports of team captains received last night were as follows:

DIES AT RIPE OLD AGE

Henry Duncan, 105, Succumbs to Exhaustion Caused by Coffee

Asheville, N. C., Oct. 22.—After living to the ripe old age of 105, Henry Duncan, a Confederate veteran of the Big Ivy section, is dead, his death being due, according to the doctors, to exhaustion superinduced by the excessive drinking of coffee. Duncan was inordinately fond of coffee, drinking three cups at every meal.

Tonight after the rush was over the watch was withdrawn.

Some of Col. Roosevelt's friends were solicitous for his safety at Sagamore Hill and insisted that he should be protected against the possibility of another attack, but he would not hear of a special guard and had only his family and his servants about him tonight.

Although his physicians would make no promises, Col. Roosevelt was confident that he would soon be back in the campaign, at least to the extent of exercising general direction. He expressed his intention of going to Madison Square Garden, New York, to speak on October 30th, even if he had strength to say only a few sentences and after another day's rest, he expects to begin an address of half an hour's length. He hopes also to hold a short conference with Senator Dixon, George W. Perkins and a few other Progressive leaders on Thursday.

WANT TO HEAR WILSON.

Many Calls Made on Governor for Addresses—Prepares Speech.

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 22.—By letter and telegram, pressure is being brought to bear upon Governor Woodrow Wilson from many parts of the country to resume his speaking campaign. The demand for speeches, the Governor said tonight, has increased in the last few days and his campaign managers are being bombarded with requests. He said he had no change of plan to announce as yet. The nominee read interestedly the news from Oyster Bay about the condition of Col. Roosevelt.

The Governor spent the day at the State House dealing with the routine of New Jersey business. He made a brief call at his own political headquarters and then walked to the railroad station. "The Federal", the private car he used in the campaign trips, was standing here, but the occupant this time was Governor Hiram Johnson, of California. The New Jersey Governor had only a few minutes to get aboard his train and missed greeting the Californian.

The Governor had one diversion from his day of routine. It was a phonograph reproduction of some of his speeches humorously jumbled and distorted. One of the youthful stenographers at the Governor's present headquarters had dictated in a deep voice some excerpts from the Governor's speeches, twisted in mock form and the Governor laughed heartily while he listened.

Parodies on the Governor's manner of expression and vocal punctuation ran through the record.

The nominee wrote tonight the message which will be read by campaign orators throughout the country on "Wilson Day", November 2nd. It probably will be his last declaration bedeen that and election day.

STAGE SET FOR BATTLE

Rebels and Federals Ready for Engagement at Vera Cruz

Mexico City, Oct. 22.—Information from government sources tonight was to the effect that Federal troops had occupied a part of Vera Cruz, including the municipal palace. It is reported that a truce has been signed until 6 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Vera Cruz, Mex., Oct. 22.—The Federal forces began their advance on Vera Cruz at noon today. The rebels under General Felix Diaz, who occupied the city, calmly awaited their approach.

General Beltran, commander of the Federals, had previously informed the City Council that the battle was about to begin. He declined to allow more time for the removal of non-combatants to the neutral zone.

The boats in the harbor have on board more than 5,000 foreign refugees and 10,000 Mexicans. The United States cruiser Des Moines is lying about 500 yards from the American consolate. The space between is neutral and many of the refugees' craft have taken up positions there.

Only 32 Americans remain within the town. The foreign consuls have gone aboard the boats. The American Consul, William Canada, has assumed leadership of the situation. Rain threatens to drench the refugees and fighters.

Within an hour or two the Federals were only seven miles from the city. General Diaz said that the artillery on the heights in the outskirts will fire on the loyal troops. Only if his outposts are driven back will he fight in the city.

DR. MARSHALL DEAD.

Venerable Rector of Episcopal Parish in Raleigh Passes.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 22.—The tolling of Christ Church bell this evening spread throughout this section news of the death of Dr. D. M. Marshall, the venerable and beloved rector emeritus of Christ Church parish, who has been in failing health in a sanitarium at Morganton for some time. The remains will be brought here tomorrow. Dr. Marshall was 70 years old and was the active rector of Christ Church for 23 years, having come to Raleigh from Warrenton where he was rector for a number of years. He was a native of Pittsboro and was a minister of deep consevration and ability. He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Duncan Gammeron, missionary in China; Mrs. Butt, of Portsmouth, and Miss Sue Marshall, of Raleigh, also a son, Jno. Marshall, of Alabama. Rev. M. A. Barber, active rector and the Christ Church vestry, are making funeral arrangements.

"Always leave them laughing when you say goodbye" is the motto of Della Clark, the author and playwright whose latest comedy success, "Introduce Me" will be seen at the Academy Friday night. Give the people a bright, wholesome and happy-hearted play and they will be your best advertisement is the way this young author puts it.

"Find the audience that has left a theatre after going through an evening of troublesome seriousness or mawkish sentiment that is employed to create sympathy for some soiled heroine," she said, "and I will show you an audience that will not lose its breath hurrying to see that same play the next season. The people want to be made happy and be entertained. They do not want to go to the theatre to figure out problems or watch them figured out. They want to laugh and have gladness put into their lives."

Seats will go on sale at Plummer's this morning.

Brilliant Weber Show Saturday

The sale of seats for the brilliant farce with music, "Alma, Where Do You Live?" which will be the attraction at the Academy Saturday, matinee and night, will open at Plummer's tomorrow morning. "Alma" is the racy French farce which ran a full season at Weber's Theatre, New York, last year. It opened in the middle of August and closed with the hot weather in the middle of May. The piece is under the direction of Joe Weber, who secured the American rights and had George V. Hobart make an English version. The music is the original score of Jean Briquet. There are fourteen numbers. Prominent in the cast are Grace Drew, Carlton King and Charles F. Orr.

The swell Weber show, which it should be borne in mind as a musical play, and not a musical comedy, has captured the larger cities of the South. It was raved on in Atlanta and from the Charleston News and Courier comes the following:

"'Alma, Where Do You Live?' was one of the most popular offerings of the last theatrical season. It repeated its success last night, and deservedly so. The audience was cool enough at the beginning, but warmed considerably during the first act; and by the time the second act was well under way the enthusiasm had become acute. Thereafter the encores were many, as they ought to have been.

"'Alma' is a peculiar production. It is really a musical comedy without a chorus, though it is denominated by the author 'French vaudeville.' 'Alma' is a beautiful woman, who happens to be a milliner. She is willing to be gay enough, but her ideal of bliss is a man worth while and home life. When she is engaged by 'Theobold' to make Pierree LePeach propose to her within 24 hours, and thus lose his inheritance of 4,000,000 francs, she conceives the idea of saving the boy. This she does, falling desperately in love with him meantime. She is skilful enough to keep him from proposing until the time limit is up, when she gets Le Peach and the money that goes with him.

"'Alma' is, of course, a dashing creature, who likes to flirt and lead men on. The natural result, it may be said, is a tabasco finish to many of the scenes. It is doubtful if a regular theatregoer would find anything particularly suggestive in the performance, though those who are novitiates in the temples of art might find something here and there to shock them. The so-called undressing act is no undressing act at all. Lines of exceptional brightness, with some dull ones to set them off, make for good spirits. The music is simply delicious, all of it, with a slow, sweeping movement that continues to haunt the mind long after the lights are out."

"The Pink Lady" Next Monday

Klaw and Erlanger will present the much talked of international musical comedy hit, "The Pink Lady," at the Academy next Monday in the same Alladdin like dream of elegance and charm that characterized its late phenomenal runs in New York, Chicago and London, England, where the Britishers enthused over its glorious music and beauty of theme and color scheme of costume, electric and scenic elegance to such an extent that today six gigantic foreign organizations are producing "The Pink Lady" in every foreign land of civilization. Success breeds success, and no rumor travels as fast as the by-word "success," as a consequence it is easy to understand why local theatregoers have taken such an active interest in the coming important theatrical event scheduled for when this engagement will be stamped with all the detail and lavish display of 100 people and four carloads of scenery, that fairly startled the press and public at its original important presentations. Klaw and Erlanger are its sponsors and suffice it to say that their name is enough to guarantee a performance high-class in the extreme, and appertaining to the best to action, beauty, song and hilarious fun.

A big feature will be the company's own mammoth orchestra, which is superb.

Seats go on sale at Plummer's Friday morning, not Saturday.

At the Grand Theatre.

"I'm Dreaming of the Girl I Love," a real love ballad that has been all the rage in Boston, will be sung by Mr. Leonard Chick at the Grand Theatre today and it should not be missed by the enthusiastic patrons of the premier playhouse of Wilmington.

The song will be only one of the big features at the Grand today for there are three great pictures. One of them is a Kalem, "His Mother's Picture" and it is the story of Tom Whitelaw, a wanderer, who rests at a railroad bridge and gazes upon the picture of his nearest, dearest friend, hears a cry and awakes from his reverie just in time to rescue a beautiful young girl who has caught her foot in the frog of a switch. It is a story of misjudged charity and turns out in truly refreshing style. Another of the big features is "The Rebellion of Mandy", the first presentation of an Esanay, a laughable comedy showing the trials and tribulations of a grouchy old farmer before he restores domestic harmony in his household. Family troubles are depicted in a thoroughly amusing way and the picture will be one of the funniest of the funny. In addition to these two there will be a third and with the full orchestral accompaniment and the realistic effects, it is a safe bet that nowhere under the sun is more given for the money than right here at the Grand Theatre.

At the Bijou.

People who like thrills, who love the martial air and above all who like scenes of the war between the States, must not miss seeing the great feature film at the popular Bijou today. It is a masterpiece of excitement and spectacular in every way. It is "The Confederate Ironclad", and it tells a story of the war in the South and of the heroism of a Confederate soldier and his sweetheart. After the ironclad is attacked, the Confederate officer goes to bring a powder train to the scene to supply ammunition to the Southern troops, and she sets fire to a bridge over which the train has to pass. The scene as the train shoots across the burning structure is the most realistic piece of moving picture business ever presented. The last car of the powder train catches fire, but the officer is unable, being seriously wounded, to reach it. The young Southern woman does, however, and saves the day.

From this film of thrills, the Bijou will quickly flash on its big screen today one of the best of comedy photoplays, "Naughty Marietta." It tells how a young woman, out for a lark, disguises herself as a chauffeur and purloins her father's auto. Being inexperienced she butts into various vehicles and the mix-ups that occur are decidedly laughable.

The other films on today are equally as swell and should not be missed. In fact, this is going to be one of the rarest of all days at the popular Bijou, and, bear in mind, that the comforts of the Bijou cannot be surpassed anywhere. The price always remains at 5 cents, afternoon and night.

WILL ADJOURN TODAY

Clapp Committee Closes With Investigation of Indiana Campaign

Washington, D. C., Oct. 22.—With the examination of witnesses summoned for a single session tomorrow the Senate Campaign Contributions Committee expects to finish the investigation as so far planned and to adjourn until after election.

The sinews of war furnished to Albert J. Beveridge for his 1910 campaign in Indiana will be the basis of tomorrow's inquiry and Senator Beveridge himself, as well as the men associated with him in that campaign have been summoned to appear. Members of the committee did not expect to go into the matter at this time, having planned to conclude the present series of hearings today. However, Senator Pomerene had obtained information relating to the Beveridge matter and requested that it be cleared up at once.

Senator Pomerene, in his examination of George W. Perkins yesterday, became involved in a heated controversy with the witness who denied having furnished between $50,000 and $60,000 for the Indiana campaign in 1904. Mr. Perkins said he remembered sending only $10,000 to Mr. Beveridge, which the latter returned. This he remembered because he "almost dropped dead" when the money came back. Senator Pomerene declared his information was thae $50,000 or $60,000 had been sent into Indiana by Mr. Perkins after the National Committee had failed to furnish a $100,000 fund which had been promised to that State.

Senator Beveridge himself is busy with the Progressive campaign in Indiana, where he is running for Governor and may not be able to come to Washington until after election. Other witnesses who were associated with him in the 1904 campaign, however, have promised to be on hand for tomorrow's session which will begin at 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

EARTHQUAKE IN GEORGIA.

Distinct Shock Felt—Councilmen in a Panic—Wedding Halted.

Macon, Ga., Oct. 22.—A distinct earthquake shock was felt in Central Georgia about 8:15 o'clock tonight. No damage to property or loss of life has been reported. In Dublin, Ga., 60 miles southeast of Macon, the shock was most severe, and was accompanied by a loud noise. It was believed that the quake was caused by an explosion, at that place, but none has been located. The Dublin City Council was in session at the time the tremor was felt. The city hall shook noticeably and the councilmen rushed into the street in a panic.

At Macon a wedding was temporarily halted when the bride fainted, as a result of the earthquake shock.

TROOPS AT RACE MEET.

Indiana Militia Takes Charge of Mineral Springs Track.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—Mineral Springs race track, at Porter, Ind., tonight is in the hands of Indiana State troops, with orders from Governor Thomas Marshall to stop gambling on the races. The troops arrived at the track today with three days' rations.

The companies of militia took charge of the track after it had been decided by the owners of the course to make an attempt to run the races. When the horses appeared for the first race, they were halted by the soldiers with fixed bayonets, and the races were called off.

The troops also halted all spectators as they appeared at the gates. Those that entered before the troops arrived were detained in the enclosure for more than an hour. In the number were about 50 women.

A conference of owners considered court proceedings to restrain the Governor from further interference, but a final decision was not reached.

NO CARS RUN AT COLUMBIA

Strikers Mark Time and Company Doesn't Make Statement

Columbia, S. C., Oct. 22.—The striking employes of the electric company and the officials of the company are still marking time in the labor troubles that resulted in a walkout of the carmen early Saturday morning.

It is stated that some time today the carmen will hold a meeting and until they make a statement no action will be taken by the company.

No cars were put in service yesterday and today not a wheel was turned. Whether the company will attempt to run cars in the near future has not been stated.

KILLING AT LAURINBURG N. C

Mail Carrier McKenzie Shot Down His Brother-in-Law—Posse in Pursuit and Large Reward Offered for Capture.

(By Long Distance Telephone.)

Lumberton, N. C., Oct. 22—News reached here tonight of the killing of Laurinburg this afternoon about 5 o'clock of Mr. Peter B. Jones, an esteemed citizen, by a mail carrier by the name of Will McKenzie, his brother-in-law. They had some family trouble, according to report, and McKenzie shot his relative twice with a shotgun and four times with a pistol, killing him instantly.

After the shooting, it is stated that McKenzie fled towards the South Carolina line and that a large posse of Laurinburg citizens were in pursuit. The killing is said to have been so atrocious that the people of the town at once offered a reward of $500 for the capture of McKenzie. Jones is a farmer and leaves a wife and 11 children.

Former Lieut. Governor Francis D. Winston, Democratic elector at large, addressed only a small crowd in the Court House here this evening. The weather was very inclement and many people on that account missed what is said to have been one of the best speeches of the campaign delivered here.

State to Offer Reward.

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 22.—An appeal came to Governor Kitchin tonight from Laurinburg for a reward to be offered by the State for the arrest of Will T. McKenzie, who, the telegram stated, had this afternoon shot and killed Peter B. Jones, a valued citizen of Laurinburg in apparent cold blood. The Laurinburg authorities were instructed from the Governor's office here to have the request for reward come through the sheriff of the county with statement that everything possible has been done by him to accomplish the arrest. The propert application for the reward is expected tomorrow and the reward will be promptly announced.

MR. SMALL RETURNS

North Carolina Congressman Speaks Of Outlook In Connecticut

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Washington, N. C., Oct. 22.—Hon. J. H. Small has returned from Connecticut where he spent the latter half of last week making campaign speeches for Wilson and Marshall, under the direction of the National Democratic Committee. He made speeches at four large "rallies," as they call them in that State. The largest was at New London. He found Democrats diligent and enthusiastic. There are no divisions in the party and the most cordial sentiment exists toward Governor Wilson. Not only is this true among the Democrats, but among many Republicans. Mr. Small states that numbers of citizens approached him at each meeting who stated that they had always voted the Republican ticket, but in this election intended for the first time to leave their party and vote for Wilson. Wilson and Marshall will certainly secure a plurality and probably a majority in Connecticut.

A brief visit to National Democratic headquarters by Mr. Small brought evidence that the National committee are in urgent need of additional contributions. This is the people's campaign for Wilson, and they must finance it. There is no doubt that the committee could visit a few of the wealthy men in Wall Street and elsewhere and readily secure all the money desired, said Mr. Small, but they will not accept contributions from this source, or from any other source which carries with it the slightest implied obligation of any kind North Carolina should not contribute less than $25,000. Let every Democrat during the next ten days give according to his means and the money will be forthcoming. The Democrats of this State particularly should encourage a clean campaign and sustain their National committee and their candidates in their laudable purpose to elect their candidate and leave him absolutely free and untrammelled to serve only the interests of the people.

AUTOMOBILE BURNED

Machine Destroyed In Goldsboro—Political Speaking In Progress

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Goldsboro, N. C., Oct. 22.—A valuable automobile belonging to Mr. H. C. Smith, of this place, was burned here yesterday on Mulberry street. The car was driven at the time by an expert from one of the garages. The fire was caused by gasoline flowing too fast into the engine and when it blazed up the driver was unable to cut the gasoline off for some reason, and he was forced to stop the car and jump to save his own life. The fire company responded promptly and soon put out the flames, but not in time to save the automobile from being an almost entire loss. It was valued at $2,000, fully covered by insurance.

M. H. Allen returned this morning from Richlands where he spoke last night to a large crowd in the interest of Senator Simmons.

Hon. Iredell Meares, nominee of the Progressive party for Governor, will speak here in the Court House, Thursday night of this week at 8 o'clock. This is the first speaker of the Progressive party to speak at this place.

SHOOTS HIS WIFE.

Geo. Currier Summons Police on Phone and Pleads Self Defense.

San Francisco, Oct. 22.—"I've just killed my wife," said a voice over the telephone to police headquarters today. "You'd better come get me in a hurry before I kill myself."

At the address given the police found Mrs. Alice Currier dead on the kitchen floor. George, her husband, told the police his wife had attacked him, in a delirium resulting from typhoid fever, with a knife and pistol and that he had shot her in self-defense.

As the woman lay on the floor, the husband asserts she said to him: "Well, George, you'd better finish me." so he shot her again. Currier formerly was an inmate of the Napa Insane Asylum.

DOINGS AT KINSTON.

Craig Enthusiastically Received—State Institution Going Up.—Political.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Kinston, N. C., Oct. 22.—Hon. Locke Craig, Democratic candidate for Governor, addressed a large crowd in the court house here last night. The Democracy of Lenoir county had spared no effort in giving to the nominee a warm and enthusiastic welcome, and the gathering was in the nature of an old-time Democratic meeting. The Second Infantry Band escorted the speaker to the court house. Much interest was shown in the occasion, which was the climax of the campaign in this county, for several days past, and quite a number of ladies were among the auditors. A large sprinkling of Republicans and Progressives were among the orator's hearers.

While shopping in a fashionable haberdashery here, Miss Daisy Slaughter, a very pretty girl of Vance township, this county, was prevailed upon to stop trading long enough to marry J. T. Monroe, of the same section. Immediately the words "for better or for worse" were said, the young woman resumed her buying as if nothing at all out of the ordinary had ocurred. The couple had been planning for several days to get married, and when Rev. C. W. Howard, a minister of the county, stopped in the store, they got him to perform the ceremony, the license having been in possession of the groom for some time. The groom is a young farmer, and the bride an unusually attractive young lady. Both are well known, and their novel wedding created a small sensation.

First steps have been taken at Pink Hill for the organization of a tobacco warehouse company, and it is said the solicitors met with much encouragement in getting subscriptions to stock. It is the purpose of the promoters to begin building about January 1st, so that the market may be opened by the first of next season. Should the project go through, the warehouse at Pink Hill will draw heavily from the Kinston market. It is said that Warsaw tobacconists are interested in the Pink Hill company, and are to a considerable extent backing the movement.

The convocation of Newbern Episcopal Diocese of East Carolina, convened in Vanceboro, at St. Paul's church, today. The convention will be in session three days. Rev. John H. Griffith, rector of St. Mary's church, in this city, is dean of the diocese. Among those who will address the convcation are Mrs. W. T. Hines and Mr. G. V. Cowper, of Kinston. Rev. C. D. Malone is the minister in charge of the Vanceboro parish.

Work has been commenced by the line force of the city lighting plant on the wire from the plant to the State institute for the feeble minded. The line, which will be two and a quarter miles in length, will supply 600 lights and will be a severe burden on the already overtaxed municipal plant. Superintendent Weyher is having difficulty in finding sufficient labor for stringing the line, and erecting poles, and this is handicapping the regular force. Work on the plumbing and steamfitting of the three buildings now up at the institution will be begun in a few days. The Harris Company, of Washington, N. C., has the contract, and will employ about 15 men on this work, which will require over a month to complete.

G. V. Cowper, Esq., Democratic county chairman of Lenoir, was hit by a brick and cut by glass when a window of the Norfolk Southern passenger coach was shattered by a missile, thrown probably with malicious intent, at Newbern last night. The brick was hurled at the train as it was pulling out of the outskirts of Newbern. Striking a window facing, it broke in two, one piece smashing the glass and striking the Kinston man on the shoulder. Mr. Cowper was painfully cut by the splintered glass on the left side of the face and head, and his bruised shoulder occasioned him some inconvenience. He made the trip to this city without medical assistance. It is not thought that Mr. Cowper was the intended victim of an attack, similar affairs having been frequent on the lines of this road at various times before. The assailant was not captured.

Hon. W. C. Douglas, of Raleigh, will speak in the court house here Friday night, in the interest of Chief Justice Walter Clark's candidacy for the United States Senate. Mr. Douglas is an entertaining speaker, and is well known in this section of the State.

"WHAT IS A DEMOCRAT?"

Chairman Webb Has No Idea What Construction Will be Placed

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Asheville, N. C., Oct. 22.—Chairman C. A. Webb, of the Democratic Executive Committee of the State, was seen this morning with reference to the meeting of the committee which is to be held in Raleigh Thursday to reconsider the Hackett resolution by which the "Democratic ticket" was defined. Mr. Webb stated that he was sure the resolution would be repealed, but he further stated that he could not undertake to say what action the committee would take in regard to the matter, or what restrictions, if any, would be placed on those taking part in the Senatorial primary. According to the Hackett resolution a voter must vote the whole Democratic ticket before voting in the Senatorial primary. When the resolution is appealed it might be possible that the committee might decide on modified restrictions, such as requiring the voter to vote the National ticket, or perchance the State ticket. Mr. Webb could not undertake to say what would be done.

The managers of the three Senatorial candidates have agreed to the repeal of the resolution, as has already been stated, and most of the members of the committee have done the same, agreeing that the resolution was too strict, but there are a few who are opposed to the repeal, consequently it could not be repealed without calling the committee together.

Mr. Webb will probably leave tomorrow for Raleigh. He said that the political situation is very astisfactory.

Saves Leg of Boy

"It seemed that my 14-year-old boy would have to lose his leg, on account of an ugly ulcer, caused by a bad bruise," wrote D. F. Howard, Aquone, N. C. "All remedies and doctors treatment failed till we tried Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and cured him with one box." Cures burns, boils, skin eruptions, piles. 25 cents at R. R. Bellamy's.

BRESNAHAN FIRED.

Roger's Contract With St. Louis Club is Terminated.

St. Louis, Oct. 22.—That formal notice has been served on Roger Bresnahan, manager of the St. Louis National League team that his contract has been terminated by the club management, although it still has four years to run, was admitted tonight by J. C. Jones, president of the club. Bresnahan said he would take every means to force the club management to live up to the contract. No specified reasons for the action were given.

"I can now confirm the statement that notice of the termination of his contract has been served on Mr. Bresnahan," Jones said after refusing all day to discuss the matter.

"I have a contract with the club for four years to run," Bresnahan said. "I will make every effort to force the club owners to live up to their end of it. I have fulfilled all my obligations to the club, and will expect the club to fulfill its obligations to me."

Bresnahan refused to say whether "making every effort" meant an appeal to the National Commission.

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 22.—During the absence of the regular operator, Mozes Mestre, a small boy, attempted to run the elevator in the Lennox building late this afternoon and was instantly killed. The boy failed to close the door properly and when the car started up his head got caught in the opening and was badly crushed.

THE MORNING STAR

WILMINGTON STAR COMPANY, INC.,
Wilmington, N. C.

Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice at Wilmington, N. C., under Act of Congress, March 2nd, 1874.

FULL ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.

PUBLISHERS' ANNOUNCEMENT.

THE MORNING STAR, the oldest daily newspaper in North Carolina, is published daily except Monday, at $6 per year, $3 for six months, $1.50 for three months, 50 cents for one month, served by carrier in the city, or by mail.

THE SUNDAY STAR, by mail, one year, $1; six months, 50 cents; three months, 25 cents.

ADVERTISING RATES may be had on application, and advertisers may feel assured that through the columns of this paper they may reach all Wilmington, Eastern Carolina and contiguous territory in South Carolina.

Obituary sketches, cards of thanks, communications espousing the cause of a private enterprise or a political candidate, and like matter, will be charged at the rate of 10 cents per line, or if paid cash in advance, a half rate will be allowed. Announcements of fairs, festivals, balls, hops, picnics, society meetings, political meetings, etc., will be charged under same conditions, except so much thereof as may be of news value to readers of the paper.

Advertisements discontinued before expiration of contracts are charged transient rates for time actually published. Payment for transient advertisements must be cash in advance. Contract advertisers will not be allowed to exceed their space at same rates, or advertise anything foreign to their regular business, without extra charge. Advertisements to occupy special place will be charged for according to position desired.

TELEPHONES: Business Office, No. 51; Editorial and Local rooms, No. 61. Call either, if the other doesn't answer.

COMMUNICATIONS, unless they contain important news, or discuss briefly and properly subjects of real interst, are not wanted; and if acceptable in every other way, they will invariably be rejected unless the real name of the author accompanies the same, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

Wednesday, October 23, 1912.

The biggest rows occur in the smallest communities.

A Progressive is a man who does not drop his candy by getting nutty.

Quit putting the good ones at the top and the rotten ones at the bottom.

A man with a grouch will vote for the meanest of the candidates who are running for office.

Your chance to help Wilson with a campaign subscription is narrowing to a few days. Now or never.

President Taft makes few campaign speeches, but he now and then attracts a great deal of attention by the zeal with which he chases the rainbow.

A man who feels the pinch of the high cost of living had better not let a lunatic and his pistol cause him to get emotional enough to vote the wrong way.

If you do not register between now and next Saturday you cannot vote in the National election or cast a vote in the Democratic primary for the nomination of a candidate for United States Senator.

Taft cheers up the country by telling it that the bumper crops will reduce the cost of living. He seems to consider it as a matter of course that the farmers must bear the brunt of decline in prices.

A florist has sued Mayor Fitzgerald, of Boston, for $3,000, due for flowers. We don't know what Fitz wanted with all those flowers, but he had better pay for them before his wife can get a conference with the florist.

Says Marion Harlan: "The father doesn't know what maternal anxiety is." Even so, but the ladies never know what it is to have to be shaved with a dull razor three or four times a week.

Says the Jacksonville Times-Union: "Now the ball will roll towards politics." Taft has fumbled the ball, Roosevelt has lost it to Wilson, and the New Jerseyman will kick it to goal on next Tuesday week. Gee! But the time is most here!

When one man out of a thousand gets rich, each of the thousand can tell you where he got part of his money, especially if they are taxed for the benefit of the one. The tariff tax operates that way. A protective tariff makes a few prosperous at the expense of the many.

Colonel Roosevelt now says he feels "as lively as a bulldog," and on Saturday he remarked: "I ask for no quarter." Of course, he wants no quarter after having been accustomed to having campaign funds furnished by his friends in amounts running from $100,000 to $240,000 at a clip.

A large portion of the population is too rich to make it necessary for them to produce, hundreds of thousands are too busy getting the offices, hundreds of thousands are always fighting or ready to fight, and hundreds of thousands won't work when they have a chance. The idle rich, the idle soldiers, the idle office-seekers, and the idle loafers have to be fed, while only about 55 per cent. of the country's population are depended upon to produce food for the others. Prices logically would be high at best, but the tariff makes everything else high, increased prices add to the cost of production, and with topnotch prices for what we consume and what we wear, the burden is so severe that it has made the people mad at the Republican party for taxing them for the benefit of the favorites of the tariff. Those who feel the need of relief must vote for Wilson or continue to feel the burden. That's all.

THE SOUTH AND THE CANAL

Recently The Star referred to the proposition of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce to call a conference of the commercial organizations of the South to consider the opportunities of Southern ports and manufacturing centers in view of the development of commerce on account of the opening of the Panama canal next year. It has been decided to hold this important gathering November 25th and 26th.

The progressive spirit and enterprise of Atlanta is manifested in her taking the initiative in this forward movement to take practical steps towards getting a share of the canal traffic for the South. The wideawake Georgia city got ahead of our ports in making this effort to place the South in touch with the commercial development that is to come about because of the new routing of the world's commerce through the near cut which the Isthmian waterway will afford for ships of all nations engaged in commerce between the Atlantic and the Pacific. It is borne in mind that much of the world's commerce now going by different routes will be changed to the Isthmian route when it will open to navigation. That alone will quicken the opportunities of the United States and it will arouse and revive the maratime spirit of this country. Particularly will the South feel this new impulse, but it depends upon the South whether she will get her share of the direct benefit.

The Atlanta conference will be the South's first organized movement to get a broad and comprehensive grasp of the new commercial situation that is to be developed. We boast of the vast resources and splendid potentialities of the South, but it remains for our ports and industrial centers to learn how to make those resources available and to utilize the powerful adaptibilities of the South for the new development that is to be brought about. How shall we begin to comprehend and know unless we get together and begin a study of present opportunities and future possibilities? It must be done by just such gatherings as that to be held next month in Atlanta.

While the new routing of the world's shipping is to revolutionize commerce and enlarge our opportunities, the immediate development of our own commerce and the exploiting of new fields of trade is to bring about a great development of commerce for the Atlantic ports North and South. The larger ports of the North with their greater capital and established steamship lines will be the first to awaken in a practical way to the opportunities of this country. Whether our Southern ports are to have direct lines is a matter for the future, but in the beginning there will be lines from New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Baltimore. Under the force of circumstances American ships will have to sail past our South Atlantic ports. Our ports evidently must be made ports of call for the liners, either that or they must have direct lines themselves. The possibility is that our South Atlantic ports will first become ports of call and later will be availed of for direct steamship service.

This being inevitable, we have first to know our commercial opportunities. We must find out what exports we can furnish or what imports we need in order to get steamship service. The ships are not coming unless there is something to come for. If we will furnish the cargoes we can get the transportation. Right now it is up to our manufacturing centers and ports to furnish the cargoes. We do not know in a general way what the Latin American, Pacific or Oriental trade expects of us, and we do not know what we want of them. It is time we were finding out.

The Atlanta conference will be the beginning of our efforts towards grasping our opportunities. It will be our first lesson in a study of our opportunities, and Wilmington must be there with her commercial eye open. One thing necessary is for us to know as a port what the manufacturing cities can furnish as exports or require as imports. What the manufacturing centers will want to know about is the availability of our port and it facilities for meeting the needs of the interior points. Atlanta, for instance, is interested in the Panama canal because she expects it to be of benefit to her in the way of expanding her manufacturing and commercial interests. Atlanta is one of the South's largest and most enterprising cities and her interest in the conference will be that of an exporter and an importer. Our port will be concerned in becoming the entrepot of Atlanta, Birmingham, Memphis, Chattanooga, Jasaville, etc. Those and other cities in touch with this or other ports evidently will be in a position to furnish valuable exports and thus enable ships to come in for cargoes. There can be no commerce without ships and there will be no need of ships without export and import commodities.

We should get to gether in Atlanta and all interests make a study of the opportunities each has in the enlarged commerce for which our ports are adapted. It should be considered that unless our ports are prepared to do business, interior shipping points will have to do business through New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore or New Orleans. Our nearness to both the producing centers and to the canal make it altogether to our advantage to become the port for a large territory, and when commerce begins to enlarge it will constantly expand our territory.

At present Wilmington's port and terminal facilities are fairly ample to take care of a large commerce, and the principal need is the steamship service and the ocean gateway rates for exporters and importers. These are developments that will come when we know the requirement expected of us or when our intelligence and enterprise are called into play. The port whose business men have the broadest conception of their opportunities and the adaptibilities of their port will be the one which is to make the most out of the Panama canal. At the Atlanta conference we can catch on.

SOUTH GEORGIA LAND SHOW.

The long leaf pine and wiregrass region of South Georgia is pretty much the same as the similar region in North Carolina. Only a few years ago the Georgians found out that their cutover pine lands were splendidly adapted to agriculture and fruit growing, and now that the Georgia farmers have demonstrated what a marvelously productive country it is, they are anxious for settlers to go there and aid in developing the country.

With a view to doing that, the growing young city of Tifton is to be the seat of the South Georgia Land & Agricultural Exposition which is to be held from the 31st of October to the 9th of November. This will be an event of extraordinary interest in South Georgia and throughut the State, not to mention the interest that should be aroused among homeseekers in the Northern and Western States.

The Tifton Fair will not be so much of an agricultural fair as it will be a land show. Fairs used to be held for the purpose of promoting agriculture and encouraging better farmnig, but since the farmers have learned how to farm they now hold a land show, with a display of agricultural products to prove what their lands will do. The splendid products of the lands are shown as evidence of the productivity of the lands and to demonstrate their adaptability for growing a great variety of fine crops. The agricultural display is meant as an advertisement of the lands and as an inducement to homeseekers, and, therefore, the particular feature of the fair is to advertise the sale of lands. Everybody who has land for sale offers it at the fair, so that a home-seeker who is in Tifton during the show will know about every farm or piece of land that can be had in the county. They can also see the kind of products that can be produced on the land, and get all necessary information on the spot.

From the Atlanta Journal it is learned that the wonderful harvests that have blessed the entire country this year have been immensely varied and abundant in South Georgia, consequently the land show at Tifton will have rich materials to convince visitors of the resources of the county. Particular stress is laid upon the offerings of land, and as Tifton has held these shows before, many homeseekers are always attracted to the show. It is advertised North and West, and it shows that the people of South Georgia know that they must look away off and not right at home for newcomers. Heretofore the shows have drawn many investors and homeseekers and more than ever will attend this year's show.

The South Georgia Land Show is modeled after the International Land Show, which is held each year at Chicago. That show is responsible for the tremendous emigration from our Northern States to Canada, and if the South were as alert as those interested in Canada, we could attract thousands of these people to a better country where development is easier and the rewards are greater. At these land shows a specialty is made of machinery exhibits, showing what can be accomplished through labor saving devices and propert farming equipment. Then there is the soil exhibit, showing the value of scientific methods in agriculture. Next is the live stock and poultry exhibit, showing the adaptabilities of the country for dairying, etc., while in a general way a great variety of products are on display to show the great versatility of the lands.

A show like this could be held at Wilmington if we would go to work now and prepare for it. A whole year is none too early to prepare for a show if it is hoped to make it creditable.

The Chattanooga Times throws out this hint: "If you need $80,000 it can be made easily. France offers that amount for a device that will make aeroplanes safe." We submit a device for hitching them up in the hangar so they cannot be taken out for a flight. France will please forward the money.

CURRENT COMMENT.

"Win with Wilson," the slogan of the campaign, was the pre-convention inspiration of Walter W. Vick, assistant secretary of the National Committee. It was very annoying to some Democrats at Baltimore, but now it is universal in use. A letter was received from Chicago by Mr. Vick this morning containing "What is the matter with 'Victory with Vick?" It is evident that the people are thinking.—New York Evening World.

Governor Wilson and the Democratic party generally offer the only concrete programme for the practical solution of the two great concrete problems of the hour—the tariff and the trusts. The Taft Republicans are "standing pat." The third term party trifles with the tariff and offers a solution for the trusts which the heads of the greatest of all trusts suggested before ever the third term party was thought of.—Raleigh Times.

The Social Evil

Editor Morning Star:—In view of the coming of Dr. Howard A. Kelly and Mr. Samuel E. Pentz, the eminent speakers who are to deliver addresses on the subject of "Social Purity" in the Academy of Music next Sunday afternoon, a few words in answer to the adverse criticism that always accompanies such an effort to suppress vice and establish a higher standard of public morals as is being made in Wilmington, may not be altogether out of place in your columns.

There are times and places and circumstances when reticence on such subjects is absolutely proper; but there are times and circumstances also when reticence is little short of criminal. Familiarity with immorality through the medium of the novel or the stage, or the latest scandal in the daily press—where the only object is to satisfy a craving for the sensational and the prurient, is always to be condemned; but familiarity in order to change and regenerate such conditions is as necessary as it may be repulsive—necessary, indeed, because the existence of such conditions is repulsive and intolerable to every healthy mind, and must be changed at whatever cost to one's sensitive refinement. As long as men and women refuse to know such conditions, because the knowledge of them is abhorrent to their sensibilities; as long as they refuse to sacrifice their feelings one whit for the sake of needed reformation—the evils that fester and rot beneath the fair surface of the life of any community are hopeless of cure. It is the pure-minded and pure-lived men and women in every community always, who must act, and act intelligently—inspired by the very horror from which they shrink—if anything is to be accomplished. Can any man or woman, who professes to know anything of the mind of Christ, imagine his withdrawing from any effort for the moral and spiritual uplift of the world, because the way to reform led Him into unpleasant surroundings or because the knowledge of conditions existing there jarred upon his sensibilities? It is almost a sarcrilege to ask such a question.

And yet it is just this spirit of over-refined reserve which is the hardest obstacle to overcome in any movement for reform. It might almost be said that it is the very tap-root of indifference to such efforts.

Dr. Gore, Bishop of Oxford, perhaps the greatest scholar and preacher in the Church of England, speaking of the indifference which exists even among Christian people towards all such matters of social reform, said in an address to the Christian Social Union, February 9th, 1912:

"I have constantly sat down bewildered before the blank, and as it seems to me, simply stupid refusal of the mass of church people to recognize their social duties. Why on earth is it? What produces this strange blindness of heart and mind? Often have I tortured my mind trying to find an answer to those question, and tortured it in vain. I simply recognize the fact; it stares you in the face.

"People say that our Lord was not a social reformer. If He were to come into our churches and say what He said about poverty and wealth, what would happen?

"Do you say He was not a social reformer? What did He do? He founded the Church—the brotherhood. If you say to me, 'I don't want to go mixing up with your dirty politics; I want to follow pure religion,' I say, 'Go and do it; that is the most revolutionary thing you can do; that is what turned the world upside down.'

"There does not appear to be any justification in saying that our present society is unalterable. There is not a shadow of doubt, but that if only one-half of the communicants of the Church of England were in earnest it could be altered by the creation of an intense feeling of repulsion and the dawning of a great vision. Then there would be no talk of this party or that party; but whether this measure or that is going to be enforced.

"Short of a modern miracle, tens of thousands cannot keep their hope, their strength, their purity. Are we going to tolerate that?

"I ask: What is this old Church of England about? Why is it so insensate, so dull to the great appeal that ought to make it stir? These things can be altered by political, by every kind of means. If you, instead of being that apathetic, sluggish kind of person who forms the great body of communicants, were full of active determination, do you suppose things would be as they are in London or Birmingham, or anywhere else?

"Then you would say: 'Wait!' Oh, no; not at all. 'Parties!' We don't care twopence-halfpenny for parties. Things have got to be altered; we are going to have them altered straight away. They have to be done now!"

"It is said that when the great English journalist and publicist, Stead, published his papers on Social Purity in 1885, in the Pall Mall Gazette, the frequenters of West End clubs, certain city editors, and not a few persons of social and political rank, were enraged at an attempt to interfere with their abnormal vices by saving the children. Men guilty in their private lives assailed Stead with a malignity that was Satanic. Heads of families wrote indignant letters to the papers saying their wives and daughters were likely to read the revelations made, and the sale of the paper among the 'nice' people was practically at an end. Had the daily press of London kept up the crusade Stead so grandly inaugurated, there would scarcely be a brothel in the city today."

One more extended quotation, as an answer all such criticism and at the same time as a clarion call to every man who has the heart and conscience in him, and I am through.

All of these quotations were used by Dr. Kelly himself, in a recent article on the subject of the Social Evil. The following is a quotation from an article by Dr. Henry Scott Holland, Canon of St. Paul's Cathedral, London, written when he and his co-laborers were blamed, for bringing this subject too prominently before the general public. This is what he wrote:

"Why is it left to half a dozen devoted men to do all the work year after year? Are people afraid of being invited to rake in filth, and to be made familiar with what they had much better not know, or ignore, or forget? Is it not morally unwholesome to be overoccupied with the nasty sides of life? Can you touch pitch and not be defiled? Are these the things men are saying to themselves as an excuse for refusing to lend a hand? If so, then let them heed those excuses no longer. We hate raking in filth as much as they. We desire that men should keep utterly out of it. We want to rally all that is sound and pure and strong in men, and so enable them to keep in living touch with everything that makes for health and sanity and sweetness and light. We appeal to all who believe in clean living, and ask them to make this their desire effective in the big world by the force of co-operation and combination.

"For sin co-operates with sin. It accumulates mass and volume and weight by giving to evil the swing and joy of hearty companionship. If we would counter it, we must do the same. Cleanliness of life must constitute a glad and gay companionship. It must have in it and about it the swing and movement of a mighty fellowship, confident in its cause, sure of its numbers, powerful in its massed momentum, radiant and alive as an army with banners. Hand in hand, and shoulder to shoulder, these good fellows should stand, and their whole life should be a war-song of victory. It is the loneliness and the silence in which each separate soul is left to fight its forlorn and obscure struggle which, now, terrify it into defeat. Alone and in the dark, how can they dare believe that they can win in face of all this loud riot of the jolly Comus crew? They know nothing of the powers that fight on their side. They know nothing of the resources to which they might turn. They have no witness given them of the great comradeship which could befriend and succor them. Down they go into the black abyss, unaware of the victory that is being won all round them. Nobody helps. Nobody speaks. Nobody holds out a hand. They despair and break. Yet, all about them, men who should be their brothers, are living the very life to which they long to be loyal. The purity which they are told is impossible and unnatural, is verifying its possibility and justifying its reality, in hundreds of those whom they daily see and touch. Why should they not be made aware of this? Why should they be allowed to believe a lie, which is hourly being disproved in fact? Why should they not have the assurance of this evidence of fact, by which they could fling back the devil's lie in the face of any who uttered it? Why should they be slain through sheer ignorance of what is going on at their very side? If they might only know who were on their side, they would stand. If only they had behind them the experience of those who have fought their good fight and come through! If only they could be told how it was done, and by what weapons, and under what discipline, and through what secret of help! Then, they too would not fail. They, too, would not lose heart. They, too, would give a cheer, and look up. And how good the true life would feel! How inspiring to be one of this glad host in its white splendor! What a deep joy to be caught up into their swinging onset, and to send up one's voice to mingle in their victorious shout!

"This is the lift that would redeem and save thousands who now perish in the unregarded and dreadful solitude. And for this, we want men to make their witness felt abroad. We want the strong to put their strength at the disposal of the weak. We want all those who believe in the possibility of Christian purity through the power of Jesus Christ to declare themselves, so that the waverers and the harassed and the hard-beset may know who is on their side. We want a glad and free fellowship to hold sway over those who stand on Christ's side in this matter, so that none may perish through blank ignorance of what may be done. We want the challenge to go out loud and clear into the world, which asserts this law of Christ as a valid and verifiable standard for men If only men will hold together in the unity of the Spirit, and rally to their individual support the power of a pledged Brotherhood, the gathered force of an accumulated experience, the encouragement and the sustenance of a mighty and multitudinous Church. Not alone can we stand, but stand we can in the solid ranks of that great army which Christ leads out to victory. Will you not help?"

Yours in behalf of the young manhood in our midst, for whom some day we may have to give account,

CLARENDON LODGE PYTHIANS

Keeper of Records and Seal John F. Littleton Host at Delightful Affair Last Night—Addresses And Refreshments

Clarendon Lodge No. 2, Knights of Pythias, which for the past several months has been exhibiting signs of unusual activity, has assembled at no time under more delightful circumstances than on last evening, a social session, following the regular lodge exercises, marking the 53rd anniversary of the birth of Clarendon' faithful and efficient Keeper of Records and Seal, Mr. John F. Littleton, who has held this important office in his lodge for fifteen years or longer and whose Pythianism at all times has been of 18-karat gold.

After the regular session of the lodge, open meeting was declared and the large number of enthusiastic Pythians assembled, including many from sister lodges and not a few applicants for the rank of page, were called to order by that fellow of infinite jest, State Deputy Grand Chancellor J. D. Nutt, who was master of ceremonies. The exercises were opened with an inspiring address by State Grand Chancellor Walker Taylor, who had for his subject, "Power." This was handled in most entertaining and forceful manner, after which Rev. A. D. McClure, D. D., pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, told very interestingly "What I Do Not Know About Pythianism." This was answered in an effective address by Past Chancellor C. E. Weathersbee, of Faison, N. C., who had for his subject "What I Do Know About Pythianism." The best was saved for the last and after these addresses, Clarendon's "youngest" member, the "venerable" Dr. W. C. Galloway gave an eloquent address on "Pythianism," referring incidentally to the great work of the "Uniform Bank" which is coming on nicely in the way of organization in Wilmington.

Following these more formal exercises a most pleasing incident took place when the Grand Chancellor in behalf of the lodge presented to Mr. Littleton a very handsome hall tree, which was gracefully accepted by the recipient. Then followed a feast of good things with Mr. Littleton as host. Sandwiches, cake and other dainty refreshments served to appeal to the inner man, the cutting of a large birthday cake being a feature. The silver slice went to Capt. W. P. Oldham, the significance being that the fortunate recipient of the silver piece would live twice the length of his present years.

It was explained during the evening by Grand Chancellor Taylor and Deputy Chancellor Nutt, that the Rathbone Bible classes will be held at Greensboro November 18th; Charlotte, November 19th; Goldsboro November 20th, and Wilmington November 21st. Clarendon Lodge alone will have several candidates who will be obligated upon the celebrated Rathbone Bible upon this occasion. Clarendon Lodge was never in more active operation than just now and promises to eclipse all other lodges in the State in the number of its candidates for the Page degree upon this occasion.

SOUTHPORT'S FINE PROSPECTS

Col. Robt. Stride Enthusiastic Over The Possibilities of the Place

Col. Robert Stride, who until recently has made his home for several years at Kernersville, Forsyth county, who is known as a "promoter and guide to investors," was in the city Monday night on his way from Kernersville to Southport, where he has decided to locate permanently. He will move his family to Southport next month. Col. Stride recently issued an attractive booklet giving a fine description of Southport and Brunswick county, pointing out the advantages and possibilities of Southport and other parts of the county. He says that he has interested a number of capitalists of the North in his project for a sanitarium, hotel and hunting reservation, etc., and they will be down in the early Winter to look over the proposition. Col. Stride has great hopes for the future of Southport with the opening of the Panama canal, and says that he has capital interested to build an extensive coaling station there and to provide other improvements to make the port a successful competitor for the Panama business.

CONCERT THIS EVENING

Singing Class to Give Entertainment At the Academy of Music

The Oxford Singing Class will give a concert at the Academy of Music this evening under the auspices of the local Masonic lodges. The class gives a concert in Wilmington every year and the children never fail to please. The programmes are bright and attractive and the children are well trained. The entertainments in Wilmington are always largely attended and indications are that the concert tonight will be no exception to the rule. Last night the class gave a concert at Southport and will come to Wilmington this afternoon. Tomorrow night a concert will be given at Burgaw.

There are a large number of Masons in Wilmington and most of these will very likely attend, accompanied by members of their families and friends. A large number of tickets have already been sold. In order to encourage the boys and girls of the city in the sale of tickets the committee in charge offered cash prizes.

On Way to Celebration

Hon. Joseph A. Brown, Democratic elector from the Sixth Congressional district, spent yesterday in the city on his way to Maxton, N. C., where he will be one of the speakers today at the big drainage celebration. Mr. Brown has been on the campaign for a week or longer and says that while the people are much interested in the campaign, they are giving much more of their time just at present to the material side of life; that they are busy in their crops and are staying at home determined to inform themselves and vote on election day.

PROMINENT SCIENTIST COMES

Dr. Geo. H. F. Nuttal, of Cambridge, England, Arrives This Morning to Visit Dr. Chas. W. Stiles for Few Days.

Wilmington will have a distinguished visitor today in the person of Dr. Geo. H. F. Nuttal, professor in the Cambridge University, England, who will arrive on the morning train from the North to spend a few days with his friend, Dr. Chas. W. Stiles, the eminent specialist of the United States Marine Hospital Corps, who is carrying on an investigation of parasitic diseases at the local Marine Hospital. Dr. Stiles and Dr. Nuttal were in college together in Germany and have long been close friends. Like Dr. Stiles the distinguished visitor who comes today, is particularly well known in the scientific world for his original discovery of parasitic diseases.

Dr. Nuttal will be most cordially welcomed by the medical fraternity of Wilmington. While Dr. Nuttal will be a very busy man during his stay here, he will likely be visited by many members of the profession in this city. Dr. Nuttal is regarded as one of the foremost scientific men in England and he has many admirers in Wilmington among the medical profession, who have watched with keen interest his splendid work.

He is a native of California and was graduated from the University of that State. He afterwards graduated in Germany and it was here that he and Dr. Stiles met and became fast friends. Soon after graduation in Germany Dr. Nuttal returned to the United States and became a member of the faculty of the Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md. A few years later he went to Europe again to carry on scientific investigations and it was while there that he received the invitation from the University of Cambridge, England, to become a member of the faculty. This is an exceedingly high honor and he is one of the few Americans living who were ever invited to become a member of the faculty of that institution.

Besides his connection with the institution, Dr. Nuttal is editor of one of the leading scientific journals of the world of the present time. The journal is published at Cambridge.

After an absence of 19 years, Dr. Nuttal returned to this country a few weeks ago to attend several international meetings in Washington and since that time he has been engaged in giving special lectures at Johns Hopkins University, University of Maryland and in New York City. Great demands have been made upon his time and his visit has been extended longer than he originally intended in order to come to Wilmington to see his friend Dr. Stiles and to learn first-hand something of the investigations being carried on here by him. Dr. Nuttal will be here for two or three days and will then go to Harvard University, where he delivers a lecture. He sails on October 29th for England to resume his work at Cambridge.

Dr. Stiles has just returned to the city from a stay of three or four weeks in Washington and other points North. While in Columbus county some weeks ago Dr. Stiles had the misfortune to fal and break two bones in his foot. Soon after the accident he went North and just returned a few days ago. He is still using crutches, but the many friends he has made since coming to Wilmington will be glad to learn that it will not be long now before he can get about with his accustomed alacrity. Dr. Stiles is the discoverer of the hookworm disease and is secretary of the Rockefeller Hookworm Commission. Dr. Stiles' present investigations are being carried on with regard to hookworm and other parasitic diseases.

THAT TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS.

Will Wilson win? Yes in a walk,
At any rate that is the talk.
But then I've found a few that's ready,
To say that they will vote for "Teddy."
And then again (it is to laugh,)
Some tell me they will vote for "Taft."
But these same people, strange it may seem,
Have given to the "WILSON-MARSHALL" team.
The reason is very plain to me,
It's to help the "City by the Sea."
Wilmington is doing herself real proud,
Now won't you come and join this crowd,
And help the committee of one hundred men,
To make the thousand mark read TEN? —S. A. M.

BILLS FOR SEWERAGE RENT

Notices Being Sent Out From Water And Sewerage Department—Rate Cut In Half—Plans for Enlarging Plant

Notices were sent out yesterday from the office of the Water and Sewerage Department in charge of Councilman W. E. Perdew, to patrons of the sewerage system to the effect that the city has taken over the plant of the Wilmington Sewerage Co., as of October 1st and that bills for the quarter beginning on that date will be due and payable at the office of the department today. The patrons are also formally notified of a reduction in the rates that have existed for the past six months.

The Wilmington Sewerage Company doubled its rates beginning April 1st and the city will restore the old rates. Formerly, the Wilmington Sewerage Company gave 10 per cent discount for payment by a certain date. Therefore, under the rates which obtained before the increase the patrons who were paying $2 a quarter got the service for $1.80 a quarter by paying by the date specified. While the city will not give any discount it will give a rate equal to that paid by the patrons when they took advantage of the discount. In other words, those who formerly paid $2 will now pay $1.80. The same percentage of reduction will be made on a greater number of services.

Plans are now being prepared by City Engineer F. F. Pillet for extending the present sewerage system in the northern, eastern and southern sections of the city. It is expected that the plans will be ready for Council in a short time and then bids for extending the system will be called for.

THE RECORDER'S COURT.

Nol Pros in Cases Against Several Women Who Have Left City.

In the Recorder's court yesterday morning nol pros with leave was taken in cases against a number of women of the underworld, charged with vagrancy, it appearing that the women in question had left the city. Nol pros with leave was taken in cases against the following: Violet McDonald, Irene McKinley, May Clifford, Lilie Edwards, Grace Darnell, Kittie King, Evelyn Goldman, Bessie Walton, Ellen Woodward, Lillian Smith, Thelma Williams. It appeared that these had left the city. A case against Hattie Simpson, charged with a similar offense, was also nol prossed, as it appeared that there was not sufficient evidence to convict.

There are about 30 more defendants, but the cases against them were again continued. This time until Friday morning. They were present to answer to their names yesterday. Assistant City Attorney Peschau prayed judgment in old cases against the women, but attorneys for the defendants raised some technical points. Mr. Peschau gave notice that judgment would be prayed against the defendants on Friday.

R. T. Pendergraft, white, was found guilty of disorderly conduct, but the case was left open for judgment until next Monday at the request of counsel for the defendant. A case against Pendergraft for assault on a female was nol prossed.

Thos. Wright, colored, was charged with vagrancy, but as it appeared that he had gone to work a nol pros with leave was taken. Nol pros with leave was taken in a case against Johnnie Hoffman, an eight-year-old negro boy, charged with shooting a sling shot.

Hearing in the matter of the Horne-Capps peace bond was continued until Thursday. The Recorder announced that if Capps did not appear at that time he would relieve Horne of his bond. It was stated that Mr. Capps was out of the city yesterday. Both men are at present under peace bonds.

FINE MUSICALE LAST NIGHT

Music Lovers Were Treated With Superb Entertainment at the Boys' Brigade—Was a Genuine Delight

The concert given at the Boys' Brigade last night by the Metropolitan Grand Concert Company proved to be a musical triumph in every detail. Probably never before has a quartette in which each person is so truly a finished artist appeared before a Wilmington audience as this company of really great singers showed themselves to be. Every voice was as nearly perfect in its quality, sweetness and power as one ever hears and the audience was simply amazed, transported or silenced as was willed by each singer in turn.

This did not seem like a formal musical recital or concert but rather like a meeting of old friends, so cordial were the singers and so fully at home, joining the audience in laughter when laughter was in order, each seeming to thoroughly enjoy the evening together.

The opening number was a quartette, from 'Rigoletto," in which each singer showed that not only did he or she posses a most beautiful voice but dramatic ability as well, singing this splendid piece with all the dramatic interpretation usually found upon the best operatic stages and among the best of the opera singers.

This was followed by three pieces by Miss Marian May, who possesses a deep, rich musical voice, which reaches the heart at once, but better than this she possesses a most delightful stage manner which wins her audiences from her first appearance. She is as charming in manner and beautiful in appearance as her most delightful voice would lead one to expect her to be.

Mr. Finnegan followed with "Che gelidamanina" (La Boheme) which was applauded to the echo. Mr. Finnegan is one of the best tenors heard here in years, possessing a voice clear as a bell, sweet in its tone, and wide in its range. It is a voice which is indeed a true tenor of the lyric type and he usese it with great intelligence and feeling which effects his audience as only the singing of a real artist is capable of doing.

Miss Dunham, of whom the most glowing accounts have been given, surpassed even the most sanguine expectations of the audience who came prepared to hear a great singer and were more than satisfied. Hers can be described only as a most glorious voice which, heard once, leaves a yearning to be heard again and again. It showed to greatest effect in her rendition of "Parla" (Waltze song) by Arditi in which all the arts and accomplishments of vocal music seem blended, yet seemed composed just to suit this splendid artist. In her trills, stacatos, prolonged tones, diminuendos and crescendos she was equally at home and holding her audience spellbound from beginning to end. At the end of her first solo she was presented with a beautiful bunch of red carnations by admiring friends who wished, in this manner, to show just a little of the appreciation they felt for her as friend and as an artist who had pleased.

Many bassos have been heard in Wilmington in the past but never has a better one than that of Royal Dadman been heard here. He is a dramatic singer of the best school, and being possessed of a magnificent voice, highly trained, deep, smooth and very musical, he can easily rank among the best in the country and is so accepted among musical critics. His dramatic rendition of "The Three Comrades" was a highly artistic effort, which scored a tremendous encore, while his singing of a humorous piece, "Supposin'" created the most intense merriment among the audience, which came to be pleased and they responded to every mood presented by the singer.

A song cycle of nine pieces composed the latter part of the programme and proved to be a most delightful part indeed, finishing, as it did, a two-hour programme of the most artistic vocal music to which the people of Wilmington have ever been permitted to listen.

But the vocalists were not the only good part of this great concert for with this quartette is Miss Ethel Tozier as accompanist and concert pianist and her rendition of a "Polonaise" (A Flat Major) was one of the real treats of the evening. She has been heralded as one of the greatest artists of the younger generation and she easily sustained her reputation, for she proved herself to be a musician of the highest and best type and everything that a born musician, who has had the best opportunities for study under great masters, should be. Her rendition of this difficult piece aroused the most vigorous and prolonged applause to which she was forced to respond, though she did so reluctantly but pleasantly. The vast audience showed its appreciation and pleasure by generous applause to which the singers responded very graciously.

This is but one of the splendid numbers of the Brigade Lyceum Course, which will be presented this Winter and the holders of season tickets are anticipating one of the most pleasing Winter's courses to which they have ever had access. Every seat was occupied last night and doubtless this will be the condition at every one of these entertainments.

TIDEWATER TRUST COMPANY

Third Annual Meeting of Prosperous Institution Held Yesterday at Noon—Will Double the Capital Stock.

The third annual meeting of the stockholders of the Tidewater Trust Company, a trust company with a savings feature, was held yesterday at noon in the handsome new office of the company, northeast corner Second and Princess streets. The stockholders voted to double the capital stock of the company and place on the market 250 shares of stock.

Col. Walker Taylor presided over the meeting and Mr. E. Norfleet acted as secretary. Reports of the officers showed that the company has a paid-in capital stock of $12,500 and an earned surplus of $16,500. It was decided to increase the capital stock to $25,000 and the surplus to $33,000, giving a total of $58,000 in assets. The shareholders were highly gratified with the progress of the company and expressed themselves as pleased with the outlook for the future. Directors for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

T. E. Sprunt, W. B. Cooper, Chas. N. Evans, S. P. McNair, H. F. Wilder, E. Norfleet and Thos. F. Bagley Immediately after the adjournment of the stockholders' meeting the directors held a meeting and re-elected the following officers:

President—Thos. F. Bagley.
Vice President—Chas. N. Evans.
Secretary and Treasurer—E. Norfleet.

The company began business about three years ago in a modest way and has steadily grown until now it is regarded as a most substantial enterprise with a splendid future. Only a few weeks ago the company removed to its present office, corner Second and Princess streets, where it has a permanent home. Handsome furniture and fixtures for the office have been ordered and are expected to arrive in a short time. The office has been temporarily fitted up and the volume of business already shows a marked increase.

SEEK HEAVY DAMAGES.

Suit Instituted Against the Tidewater Power Company.

Suit has been instituted in Superior Court by Martha J. Register, administratrix of the estate of J. C. Register, against the Tidewater Power Company. It is an action for $25,000 alleged damages for the killing of Mr. J. C. Register, lineman for the Tidewater Power Co., who was electrocuted early the past Summer when his body in some manner came in contact with a live wire at the top of a pole at the northeast corner of Third and Castle streets. At the time the young man was engaged in transferring some wires from one pole to another. The deceased was a son of the plaintiff in the action. John D. Bellamy & Son and Wm. J. Bellamy, Esq., represent the plaintiff.

BIDS OPENED YESTERDAY

Proposals for Laying Granolithic Sidewalks and Repainting Bridge

Bids were opened yesterday at the office of Councilman P. Q. Moore, in charge of the Department of Streets and Wharves, for laying granolithic sidewalks and for cleaning and repainting Fifth street bridge. Proposals for the sidewalks call for 5,000 square yards, more or less. Bids were submitted as follows: W. L. DeRosset, $1.15 a quare yard; G. W. Allen, $1.20 a square yard; E. R. Austin, 98 12 cents a square yard. Each bidder deposited a certified check of $250 to show that the bid was made in good faith. For cleaning and repainting Fifth street bridge B. Cox bid $744 and the Cape Fear Machine Works $900. Councilman Moore will make his recommendations as to award of the contracts at the meeting of Council this morning.

—The tug Columbia arrived yesterday from Charleston to tow the barge Fortuna to Wiggins, S. C. The Fortuna has just completed discharging cargo of phosphate rock and will clear today.

French Fried Potatoes "Cottolened"

DID YOU ever eat French Fried Potatoes made with Cottolene? If not, you've never eaten French Fried Potatoes at their best.

Cottolene makes them rich and crisp and appetizing, but never greasy.

If you have been frying and shortening your food with butter, try

Cottolene

It is every bit as good, at less than one-third the price.

If you are using lard for shortening and frying, we would simply suggest that Cottolene is recognized and recommended by leading physicians, domestic science authorities, and culinary experts generally, as being more wholesome, digestible and producing better food.

Cottolene is a vegetable product—pure in source and making—and is bound to be better and safer than lard.

Try this Recipe

Pare the potatoes, shave in very thin slices, or cut in straws, ½ in. strips, dice or crescents. Soak in cold water, drain dry on a napkin, and cook few at a time in basket in deep hot Cottolene. Drain and season with salt.

ENJOYABLE EVENT LAST NIGHT FOR THE B. Y. P. U'S.

The Baptist Young People's Union of Brooklyn church held a sociable at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Z. E. Murrell, No. 413 North Second street, last evening. There were about 50 members of the union present and the affair was greatly enjoyed by all. After a number of games had been indulged in, dainty refreshments were served, consisting of ice cream, orange ice and cake. Just before the pleasurable affair came to an end a rising vote of thanks was extended to Misses Ida and Ruth Murrell, for the clever manner in which the evening's programme had been carried out.

The president, Mr. S. E. Lewis, cordially invited all visitors and urged the members to be present the next meeting of the union, which will be held Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. Group No. 4, Mr. H. S. Strickland, leader, will conduct the meeting.

MISS FLORENCE STRICKLAND BRIDE OF MR. DAVID K. LEGWIN

Friends and acquaintances will learn with interest and pleasure of the marriage of Mr. David K. LeGwin, of this city, and Miss Florence Strickland, of Waterbury, Conn., which was celebrated in the bride's home town in the parlors of the First Congregational church Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock. Announcement of the marriage came as a surprise, as only a few intimate friends of the groom knew of his departure last Saturday evening and of his happy mission.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. William Strickland, of Waterbury, and is well-known in a large circle of friends both in Wilmington and Waterbury. The groom is a well-known young business man of this city, being connected with the wholesale house of Mr. J. W. Brooks. Many friends of the couple in Wilmington and Waterbury and other places will wish for them a long and happy wedded life.

After a visit to a number of cities of interest in the North, Mr. and Mrs. LeGwin will be at home to their friends after November 4th at No. 212 North Ninth street.

WEDDING OF INTEREST SOLEMNIZED THIS EVENING

Of interest to a large number of friends here and elsewhere will be the marriage this evening at six o'clock of Miss Katie Rourk, the attractive young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Rourk, of this city, and Mr. R. B. Clark, son of Mr. R. P. Clark, president and general manager of the Bowers Southern Dredging Co., of Washington. The ceremony will be performed at the home of the bride's parents, No. 510 South Front street, and conforming to the wishes of both bride and groom, it will be a very quiet affair. No cards have been issued and only a few intimate friends of the bride and groom and of the family have been invited. Rev. J. H. Foster, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist church, will officiate. Mr. R. P. Clark, father of the prospective groom, and daughter, Miss Bertha Clark arrived yesterday to attend the ceremony.

Last night from nine to eleven o'clock at the beautiful home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Brooks, at Carolina Heights, Miss Mamie Brooks most delightfully entertained in honor of the bride and other members of the wedding party. The beautiful home was beautifully decorated and brilliantly lighted for the occasion and Miss Brooks proved herself a most charming and delightful hostess.

MR. PERRY VANHORNE HERE.

Attended Meeting of Directors of Carolina Metal Products Co.

Mr. Perry Van Horne, secretary and treasurer and general manager of the Canton Culvert Co., of Canton, Ohio, has been in Wilmington since Sunday and will be here a few days in the interest of the branch factory in Wilmington—the Carolina Metal Products Company.

Mr. Van Horne is a director of the Wilmington Company, and the board of directors met yesterday to transact routine business and consider plans for pushing the manufacture of the company's several products. The new factory has been in operation only a few months, but Mr. VanHorne states that it is running on full time, while its products are growing in demand and giving the best of satisfaction. This is one of Wilmington newest industries and it is gratifying to note that it promises to develop rapidly into an important unit in the city's industrial system.

Mr. VanHorne stopped over in Wilmington on his return from Jacksonville, Fla., where a similar plant is being erected to supply the Florida and Georgia trade. The Wilmington factory supplies the two Carolinas. Mr. VanHorne will go from Wilmington to Roanoke, where there is a factory for taking care of the trade in the two Virginias.

MRS. W. H. MILLS PASSES.

Death Came Last Night After Long Illness—Funeral This Afternoon.

Although not unexpected, friends learned last night with sorrow of the death of Mrs. Margaret Foreman Mills, wife of Mr. W. H. Mills, and a most estimable woman, who passed away at the family home at 8:30 o'clock last evening after a long illness. For several days it was known that the end was near and all members of the distressed family were at her bedside when the end came to relieve her suffering.

Mrs. Mills was 55 years old and was loved and esteemed by all in the range of her acquaintance. She had been an especially devoted mother to five children and her bereaveed husband who are left to mourn their loss. The children are Mr. C. H. Mills, Mrs. J. Mercer Taylor, Mr. Boner S. Mills, Misses Margaret and Bessie Mills, all of this city. They have the tenderest sympathy of a host of friends in the affliction that has come to them.

The funeral of Mrs. Mills will be conducted at the residence in East Wilmington, near the city at 4 o'clock this afternoon by Rev. A. D. McClure, D. D., pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, and the interment will be in Bellevue cemetery.

Meeting to Consider Plans.

A meeting of the board of directors and board of trustees of the Y. M. C. A. will be held in the temporary headquarters of the association in the Odd Felows' building at 12 o'clock today for the purpose of considering the revised plans for the new home of the association to be erected on Market street, next east of the Colonial Hotel. The plans as revised by the architects, Shattuck & Hussey, of Chicago, have just been received. If the two boards at their meeting today decide to adopt the plans as revised bids will be advertised for at once.

Infant Daughter Passes

Many friends in Wilmington tenderly sympathize with Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Gault, of Lake Waccamaw, in the death of their infant daughter, Eleanor LaMott Gault, which occurred at the family residence yesterday morning.

STR. NICARAGUA SUNK

Caught In Gulf Storm Oct. 16th—Six Of Crew Drowned

Corpus Christi, Texas, Oct. 22.—The Tramp steamer Nicaragua, which sailed light from Tampico, Mexico, October 2nd for Port Arthur, Texas, was caught in the Gulf storm of October 16th and sank off Padre Island, 60 miles south of Corpus Christi in the Gulf of Mexico. Six members of the crew were drowned. Seven are adrift in two small boats and Captain Echeverra and six others aboard were rescued by the Port Aransas life saving crew and brought to Corpus Christi today.

The Nicaragua was of 397 tons and was valued at $20,000. She was built in Norway in 1891 and was owned by the Maderas Consolidated Company of Tampico.

It has a number of important features and if its provisions are carried out there will hardly be any ground to complain of defective plumbing.

MR. J. P. HERRING APPOINTED.

Has Been Named as Farm Demonstration Agent for New Hanover.

Mr. J. P. Herring, a well known and successful farmer of Masonboro, has just returned from Raleigh, where he attended the meeting of the agents of the Farmers' Co-Operative Demonstration work that is being carried on throughout the State under the auspices of the United States Department of Agriculture. Mr. Herring has been appointed demonstration agent for New Hanover county and has already taken up his work. He proposes to make a farm to farm canvass of the county and interest the farmers in scientific farming. A great many farmers in this county have already adopted scientific methods and are being well repaid for the change. Many others will do so as soon as they see the splendid results. Mr. Herring has adopted improved methods on his farm, which was nothing but a run-down tract of land when he purchased it nine years ago. Now the yield of corn and cotton to the acre should be satisfactory to any farmer. Mr. Herring will apply the improved methods to a greater number of acres on his own land this year.

Mr. Herring will devote a great portion of his time to the work assigned him and his services are at the disposal of any farmer in the county at any time. The objects of the farmers' co-operative demonstration work are pretty generally known, but it might be well to mention them briefly here: First, to interest the farmers in the work; second, to get them enlisted; third, planting of cover crops to be turned under; fourth, deep plowing, sub-soiling, tile draining; fifth, shallow and frequent cultivation; sixth, using the best farm implements, and encouraging boys' corn clubs.

There are about 70 farm demonstration agents in North Carolina now and they are doing a splendid work. Some counties have two or three agents. Mr. T. E. Brown, of Ahoskie, is the supervisor of this district.

GUNBOAT RAN AGOUND

Nashville Caught In Mud But Later Pulled Off

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 22.—To keep from colliding with a dredge off Bush Bluff light late this afternoon, the gunboat Nashville stuck her nose in the mud and remained aground until nearly nine o'clock tonight, when with the assistance of three powerful tugs from the navy yard she was pulled back into deep water.

The Nashville was bound to Guantanamo with supplies for warships ordered to Mexico and was endeavoring to make her way through a veritable net work of vessels at anchor off Lamberts Point awaiting coal. She had cleared the vessels when she almost collided with a barge. She turned out of the channel and found herself stuck in the mud.

The naval tugs Hercules, Mohawk and Wahneta were sent to the assistance of the Nashville and with the aid of a flood tide put the ship off the flats. She proceeded to Hampton Roads.

SPEAKS FOR HER MOTHER

North Carolina Lady Writes Interesting Letter Relating Her Mother's Experience

Taylorville, N. C.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Stella M. Bowman writes as follows: "My mother was weak and run down, and was in bed nine weeks. She was not able to do any of her work.

Some lady told her about Cardui, the woman's tonic. She decided to try it, and after taking three bottles, was able to do all of her household work.

You may publish this letter if you wish, as it would be a great pleasure for me to know that I have been of help to some suffering woman.

The best way to relieve womanly troubles, pains, headache, backache, etc., is to help nature, by taking Cardui.

Cardui has not only been found of great assistance in relieving the most serious cases of womanly trouble, but has also proven itself an ideal strength-building tonic, for weak, tired, nervous women.

Cardui, is successful, because it is composed of ingredients that act effectively on the womanly constitution, and build up health and strength in a natural manner. It is strictly a woman's medicine—prepared exclusively for women.

Fifty years' success in relieving aches and pains of other weak and ailing women, is a good reason to believe that Cardui should help you, too.

N. G.—Write to Ladies' Advisory Dept., Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn., for Special Instructions, and 64-page book, "Home Treatment for Women," sent in plain wrapper, on request.

WOULD EXCLUDE ALIENS.

Who Cannot Amalgamate With American People, Says Marshall.

San Francisco, Oct. 22.—Governor Thomas R. Marshall, of Indiana, Democratic Vice Presidential candidate, tonight wound up a flying two days' campaign in California by advocating the exclusion from the United States of all aliens who are not of a character to amalgamate with the American people.

This argument was accepted with noisy approval by the audience which the Indiana executive addressed in San Francisco before his departure for Oregon.

"I am unalterably opposed," said Governor Marshall, "to the granting of citizenship to any race of aliens which, by habit and by nature is absolutely unfitted to amalgamate with the American people. I believe in encouraging the immigration to this country of those peoples who will not alone understand and appreciate our institutions, but who, more than that, are eager to adopt these institutions as their own. For such peoples we have room and opportunity, but for the peoples who never can mingle in political affairs, in business or in a social way with Americans, I say, don't grant them citizenship."

Governor Marshall said he thought that Governor Johnson, Progressive candidate for Vice President, should be in California, remedying the State election law instead of campaigning in the East.

"We are spending $6,000 in Indiana," said Governor Marshall, "as extra expense to give a place on the ballot to a party that will not poll a thousand votes. Yet here in California, thousands of your Republicans are being prevented from casting their votes for Mr. Taft by a law which is neither decent nor American.

"Now, I do not say that Governor Johnson deliberately laid this mine, but certainly he was aware of what that law was going to do."

Governor Marshall, in a continuous fall of rain, selected Indiana's site for the State building for Indiana in the Panama Exposition today. He drove through the city tonight to attend three large gatherings, two of which were Democratic political meetings and the third the annual assemblage of the San Francisco Gaelic League.

GRABOW RIOT CASE.

State Secures Additional Evidence as to First Shot Fired.

Lake Charles, La., Oct. 22.—The State secured additional evidence today purporting to show that the first shot in the Grabow labor riots was fired by some one of the crowd surrounding the wagon whereon A. L. Emerson, president of the Brotherhood of Timber Workers and one of the defendants, stood while making his labor spech preceding the battle. It failed, however, when H. O. Barron, a mill employe at Deridder, was on the stand, to secure testimony that the union men went from Deridder to Grabow with the intention of making trouble. The court sustained the objection of the defense to the line of questioning by the State, and on cross examination the witness said he heard Emerson declare that they proposed to hold a peaceable meeting.

Attorneys for the State said tonight that they expected to rest their case by Saturday night.

Some apprehension is felt tonight, however, that a delay may be caused owing to the illness of Juror Duffy Holland. The court ordered a physician to attend him after adjournment of the court late this afternoon. Whether his illness is serious or not is not yet known.

COTTON MADE SLIGHT GAINS

While Somewhat Irregular, the Market Made a Generally Steady Showing—The Close Was 5 to 13 Points Higher.

New York, Oct. 22.—While somewhat irregular, the cotton market made a generally steady showing today and closed steady at a net advance of from 5 to 13 points.

The opening was firm, at an advance of 9 to 12 points, and prices sold 16 to 19 points above the closing figures of last night, during the early trading. This advance reflected higher cables than expected, reports of smaller Southern offerings and the prospects for frost in the Western belt, and in Mississippi. Foreign houses were selling here, while there was a good deal of covering by sellers of yesterday and some further support from leading spot brokers. The weather map, however, had failed to show as much frost in the belt this morning as had been forecasted yesterday, indicating killing temperatures at only one station in Oklahoma and the Texas pan-handle, and there was a good deal of selling at the early advance. This came after the Liverpool close, which had caused a withdrawal of arbitrage buyers, and the market during the middle of the day lost some 9 or 10 points under scattering liquidation, moderate local pressure or Southern offerings. Reports that the National Ginners' Association made the ginning to October 18th 6,850,000 bales were accompanied by selling orders from Memphis, while pressure may also have been encouraged by Liverpool advices claiming that Manchester bleacheries might be forced to go on short time as the troubles in the Balkans were interfering with deliveries. The market took the selling quite readily under 10½ cents for January and closing prices showed a slight rally from the lowest, as a result of Wall Street buying or final covering.

Spot closed quiet. Middling uplands, 11.00; do. gulf, 11.25; sales, 50.

Futures closed steady.

Fortunes In Faces

There's often much truth in the saying "her face is her fortune," but it's never said where pimples, skin eruptions, blotches, or other blemishes disfigure it. Impure blood is back of them all, and shows the need of Dr. King's New Life Pills. They promote health and beauty. Try them. 25cts. at R. R. Bellamy's.

WAR AGAIN AFFECTS STOCKS

Balkan Conflict of Paramount Influence in Market—Absence of Previous Day's Liquidation—Prices Off at Close.

New York, Oct. 22.—The war in the Balkans again was the paramount influence in New York stock market today, though there was an absence of yesterday's heavy liquidation for foreign account. London bought moderately here of United States Steel, Amalgamated Copper and a few other such favorites.

All European markets continued to manifest uneasiness, London taking more stocks from Paris and Berlin. The latter exchanges were weak. London's nervousness was accentuated by fears regarding the outcome of next week's settlement. The opening here displayed some irregularity, followed by general improvement and by midday some substantial gains were recorded, chiefly in the coolers, Union Pacific, Steel and Amalgamated Copper. In the latter part of the session trading fell away, the only feature being the activity in Chino-Copper, at a new high record. Towards the end prices fell steadily until little remained of early gains, Union Pacific and Lehigh Valley being especially heavy.

For the first time in some days, call loans opened at 5 per cent., and the greater part of the day's offerings were at that figure. Local banks suffered another heavy drain to the sub-treasury, their total loss since last Friday approximating $6,000,000.

The bond list in its heaviness followed the course of stocks. Total sales, par value, aggregated $1,700,000. United States government bonds, unchanged on call. Total sales today, 473,100 shares.

New York, Oct. 22.—The cotton goods markets were steady. Yarns were firm. Men's wear fabrics were purchased for immediate and future shipments and the business was of larger proportions than ever known in a Presidential year.

Mr. W. L. LAUGHINGHOUSE.

Esteemed Citizen of Washington, N. C., Passes—The Funeral.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Washington, N. C., Oct. 22.—Mr. W. L. Laughinghouse, one of Washington's prominent citizens, died at his home on West Second street last night about 12 o'clock, after a short illness. Deceased was about 70 years of age, a member of the Episcopal church, an ex-Confederate soldier, and had many warm friends in this city. He is survived by a heart-broken widow and six sorrowing children — Mr. Samuel Laughinghouse, Mr. Thomas Laughinghouse, Mrs. C. H. Richardson, Miss Mattie Laughinghouse, of this city, and Mrs. J. J. Leary, of Atlanta, and Mrs. M. M. Worthington, of Savannah, Ga. The funeral will take place from St. Peter's Episcopal church tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock and the interment will be in Oakdale cemetery.

ing the first day's engagement are given as one captain, two sub-lieutenants and 19 men killed, and 75 wounded.

The Greek troops in Epirus have occupied the heights commanding Grimbovo and those of Xirovouni. The Turkish artillery fire upon the heights of Grimbovo was without material effect.

Turkish Troops Advancing.

Constantinople, Oct. 22.—According to official information orders were given this morning to the Eastern army, concentrated at Kirk-Kriszh, to advance east to the village of Ludja.

Troops encountered the enemy in force and heavy fighting ensued. The Bulgarians finally gave way before the Turkish assault. Their losses were heavy.

A second Turkish column came into contact with the Bulgarians west of Kalimandja. The fight continued until nightfall and the Turkish advance was irresistible.

TELLS OF SUGAR "WARS"

August Spreckles Appears at Trial of Federal Suit

New York, Oct. 22.—Wars among sugar companies for the control of large interests and the regulation of prices in this country in 1876 to 1891, were described at length today by C. August Spreckles, president of the Federal Sugar Company, who was a witness at the continued hearings in the Federal suit to dissolve the so-called sugar trust.

Mr. Spreckles, a son of Claus Spreckles, who founded the California Sugar Company, was general manager of that company in 1893, he testified today when his refinery and refinery of the American Sugar Refinery Company were the only two plants west of the Missouri river.

For three years the two worked under an agreement by which his company sold four-fifths of the sugar in the territory mentioned and the American one-fifth, with prices held two cents a pound above the New York market through a freight rate arrangement with the railroads.

In 1885 Hawaiian planters, said Mr. Spreckles, got control of the American Sugar Refinery Company, and a "war" began on the Slope that carried prices below the cost of production.

Two years later, said the witness, John E. Searles, proposed to Claus Spreckles that the California Company go into a new combination to be called the Sugar Refineries Company. He refused to join the new company, but informed Searls that if the Sugar Refineries Company would confine its operations to the territory east of the Missouri, the California Company would agree not to invade that territory.

Mr. Spreckles said that nothing further was heard from Searls, but shortly afterward the new combination sought the American Sugar Refinery Company with its plant west of the Missouri, and immediately his father retaliated by building the factory of the Spreckels Sugar Refining Company in Philadelphia. The witness said he was made general manager of this new plant and that another "war" was declared, which kept sugar prices below cost until late in 1890.

About that time representatives of the sugar refineries petitioned him for "peace," witness continued, and for six weeks prices soared and both companies made money; then without warning the opposition company suddenly broke the market and later he learned that Francis C. Matthiessen, the representative who had asked for "peace," had been forced to break his agreement through pressure from Searls and the Havemeyer interests, which threatened to organize another sugar company if the fight against Spreckles was not continued.

Later, said the witness, Searls, H. O. Havemeyer and T. A. Havemeyer bought 45 per cent of the stock of the Spreckles Company, and the Western Sugar Refining Company was organized. Meanwhile, the American Sugar Refining Company, the so-called trust, was organized. Shortly afterwards the witness resigned as general manager of his father's company.

"Why did you quit?" asked Assistant United States District Attorney Knapp.

"Well, it seemed," said Mr. Spreckels, "that I didn't please anybody with my conduct of the company's business, so I quit. My father wrote me that the trust was complaining of my refusal to heed suggestions as to prices and amount of meltings and I said to myself that the minority never could control the majority, and when it did so it was time for me to get out."

YALE FACES SERIOUS DEFICIT.

Considerable Increase in Its Productive Funds Necesary.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 21.—In spite of the large gifts which Yale has recently received, the university stands face to face with a deficit unless a considerable increase in its productive funds is secured during the year.

—'s was the statement given out tonight after the October meeting of the Yale Corporation today. The meeting was largely taken up with a discussion of the university budget for this year, which calls for an expenditure of $1,550,000.

The corporation approved the appointments of Prof. Henri Bergsen, of Paris; Prof. DeVries, of the University of Amsterdam, and Prof. William Ramsay, formerly of University College, London, as Woodward lecturers for this year.

MINISTER FACES GRAVE CHARGE.

Ex-Superintendent of Odd Fellows' Home Indicted for Assault.

Greenville, S. C., Oct. 21.—Rev. Thurston U. Vaughn, former superintendent of the South Carolina Odd Fellows' Home and a member of a prominent family, was today indicted by a grand jury on the charge of assaulting three girls of the institution and performing an illegal operation on one last May.

Governor Blease has appointed a special judge and ordered a special term of court of General Sessions and no time was lost in placing Vaughn on trial.

Two jury panels had been subpoenaed, but it is believed other veniremen will be necessary before a jury is obtained.

CREATES STIR AT TRIAL.

Policeman Declares Record is Exposed Because He Wouldn't Sell Out.

Salem, Mass., Oct. 22.—Michael A. Moore, a former police officer of Lawrence, under fire of attorneys for the defense, late today in the trial of Ettor, Giovannitti and Caruso for the alleged murder of Anna Lopizzo during the textile strike, caused a stir in court by declaring his past record was being exposed because he "refused to sell out to the defense."

Moore had been called by the district attorney and testified that Ettor in Lawrence, January 29th, shouted to strikers to take a prisoner away from a policeman who had arrested him. Moore said he heard Ettor shouting to the strikers to rescue the prisoner and that he called Ettor a "dirty dago" and told him to "do your own dirty work."

J. P. S. Mahoney, counsel for the defense, immediately produced records alleging that Moore, when an employe of the Lawrence mills, had been convicted of theft and also had been convicted of assault and sentenced to a reformatory. Moore, under cross examination, admitted the truth of the records.

Later the defense learned that Moore had been fined $10 and costs for an assault two weeks ago upon a man named Patrick Henry, at Beverly, Mass. At the request of Attorney Peters, counsel for Giovannitti, he was recalled and confronted with this record.

"Yes, that's true," Moore admitted. Then he shouted vehemently: "These records are being brought in here because I refused to sell the government to the defense."

"What!" exclaimed Peters. "Do you mean to tell me you ever saw me before?"

"No," Moore replied, adding that he had seen another attorney who acted in the interest of the defendants. He was about to speak further when Judge Quinn stopped him, and ordered his statements stricken from the record.

District Attorney Atwill made no inquiry into the charges and there was no indication tonight that Moore's declaration would be investigated further.

Many Lawrence police officers testified during the day, relative to the movements of the defendants during the strike. Officer Edward Johnson, in telling of the riots late in the afternoon of January 29th when Anna Lopizzo was killed, said that officers used their clubs on the strikers in trying to drive them from the street, just before the shooting occurred. John Fletcher, a clerk in a Lawrence railroad office, told how he had been assaulted by strike sympathizers while on a street car.

"I was hit on the head with a rock, thrown through a car window," said Fletcher, "and then was driven from the car. As I was leaving it a man hit me on the head with a club and I was unconscious for 10 hours. I have not yet recovered."

ATTACKS GOV. WILSON.

Johnson Criticises Him for Failure to Prosecute Trusts.

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 22.—Making his last address in New Jersey during the present campaign here tonight, Governor Johnson sharply criticised Governor Wilson for his failure to do a little "trust house cleaning".

Incidentally Governor Johnson defended Col. Roosevelt's record in relation to big business that resorted to extortion and asserted that to him belonged the credit for political agitation against monopolistic combines.

"Compare the record of the Democratic candidate and that of Colonel Roosevelt," said the Governor, "your State is the mother of trusts. It was here that the Standard Oil combine had its genesis. The origin of the Tobacco trust was in New Jersey and we find in your State statutes that might have been applied for the very dissolution of these trusts.

"As I have read his utterances during this campaign, I have imagined at times that surely he must have attacked the Standard Oil, Tobacco and 30 or 40 other trusts of which New Jersey is the mother, but I find on investigation that the record is silent regarding the dissolution of any one of them. And if the record is silent for 22 months he has been Governor, then may we not be led to think that since he now attacks them so vigorously metaphorically he has recently changed his views toward them?"

B. W. GIBSON INDICTED

Jury Returns True Bill For Alleged Murder of Mrs. Szabo

Middletown, N. Y., Oct. 22.—Burton W. Gibson, the New York lawyer, was indicted by the Orange county grand jury today on a charge of murder in the first degree. He is accused of killing his client, Mrs. Rosa Menschik Szabo. He probably will be brought to trial in December. Mrs. Szabo met her death last July while boating with Gibson on Greenwood Lake which lies on the New York-New Jersey boundary line. The explanation accepted at the time was that she was accidentally drowned.

It developed that Mrs. Szabo had left property worth $10,000. Gibson had produced a paper alleged to be signed by his former client's mother which placed the estate in his hands. The contention that Mrs. Szabo's mother was dead and this document a forgery started the investigation which led to the attorney's arrest. Mrs. Szabo's body was disinterred and after examination the charge was made that her death was due to strangulation before the body had entered the water.

ZARZA FINED $500

Also Sentenced to Three Months for Insulting Woman

Newport, Mass., Oct. 22.—Joseph J. Zarza, Cuban vice consul at this port, was fined $500 and sentenced to three months imprisonment by Acting Police Justice Clements today, for making improper proposals to and attacking Mrs. Charles Brown, wife of a shipyard draftsman.

Mrs. Brown testified that Zarza insulted her in her home last Friday. When he re-appeared next day Mrs. Brown's husband met him at the door with a revolver and a hand-to-hand struggle ensued.

President Gomez, of Cuba, has telegraphed the Cuban consul here for particulars of the affair.

A. J. FENN FOUND.

Supposed to Have Been Drowned in 1910—Insurance Suits.

Cordele, Ga., Oct. 22.—Announcement was made here today that a man said to be A. J. Fenn, formerly a well known local manufacturer, believed to have been drowned in April, 1910, has been located in New Orleans.

After the disappearance of Fenn his wife instituted suit against two Southern insurance companies for $15,000 life insurance. She obtained a judgment for $10,000 against one of the companies in the Crisp county Superior Court and the case now is pending in the State Supreme Court.

W. R. H. Roberts and J. S. Land, of Tift county, testified at the hearing in the Superior Court that Fenn fell into the Apalachicola river April 20th, 1910, and they saw him no more.

According to the testimony the three men were drifting down the river toward Bronson, Fla., when Fenn stood up in the boat and fell overboard.

A reward of $2,500 was offered by the insurance companies for information regarding Fenn's whereabouts. An Atlanta detective is said to have Fenn in New Orleans.

WILSON STILL LEADS, AT 3 TO 1

Taft and "T. R." Neck and Neck for Second Place

(Special to Baltimore Sun).

New York, Oct. 22.—Betting men in the Wall Street district are beginning to take more interest in the coming election and it is predicted that within the next two weeks there will be more wagers made than have been up to date.

Odds on the general result are about unchanged, as far as the Presidency is concerned, with Mr. Wilson still a heavy favorite at 3 to 1, and President Taft and Colonel Roosevelt running neck and neck for the second choice at 1 to 3.

In the State election there has been a shortening of odds on Sulzer, who has gone from 2 to 1 to 8 to 5. Hedges is now being quoted at 1 to 2, and Straus at 1 to 3. Considerable money is available at these figures.

HARVESTER PROBE BEGINS

Federal Investigation of International Company Starts Today

New York, Oct. 22.—Federal investigation of the operations of the International Harvester Company will begin in this city tomorrow before Robert S. Taylor, special examiner for the government. The government will be represented by Edwin P. Grosvenor, special assistant to the attorney general, and Joseph R. Darling, special agent of the Department of Justice. The case of the defendants will be in the hands of William D. McHugh, of Omaha, who succeeded Edward A. Bancroft, when the latter's health broke down last month during the Chicago hearings, John P. Wilson, Phillip L. Post and others.

Motherhood

The highest point of woman's happiness is reached only through motherhood, in the clasping of her child within her arms. Yet the mother-to-be is often fearful of nature's ordeal and shrinks from the suffering incident to its consummation. But for nature's ills and discomforts nature provides remedies, and in Mother's Friend is to be found a medicine of great value to every expectant mother. It is an emulsion for external application, composed of ingredients which act with beneficial and soothing effect on those portions of the system involved. It is intended to prepare the system for the crisis, and thus relieve, in great part, the suffering through which the mother usually passes. The regular use of Mother's Friend will repay any mother in the comfort it affords before, and the helpful restoration to health and strength it brings about after baby comes. Mother's Friend is for sale at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.
